CLEAN UP.

Clean up week is here. Dr. Paul Sorkness, city health officer, has issued an ultimatum.

Owing to the fact that winter has been holding down the stage far beyond his allotted period, the spring clean up has been delayed.

Fargo certainly needs a clean up—in spots. Some time ago a certain club undertook to show the city the need for a civic beauty campaign.

The health of the city will be in serious danger if these disease breeding spots are not promptly attended to, and Dr. Sorkness is entitled to the hearty co-operation of every Fargoan.

A LONG WAR YET.

That the Germans are still far from beaten, that they are in fact, still superior to the entente allies in men and munitions is the statement of no less an authority than a British military expert, James Douglas.

The Germans, despite the British blockade, are able to turn out of their great munitions factories such a vast flood of munitions that it is taxing the capacity of all the rest of the civilized world to equal the output.

The truth is that after almost two years of war the Germans are still able to maintain the offensive on practically every front, and although Douglas maintains that the allies will win in the end, he frankly states that the British people must recognize that the end is still far from decided.

Judging from this, and other information made public recently in British papers, the end of the war is still a long way in the future.

TRIUMPH OF SCIENCE.

Writing of the work of Dr. Victor Heiser, the young American physician who has turned the Philippines into almost a health resort.

Smallpox had ravaged the islands for centuries and killed Filipino faces were as numerous as in England before the days of Jenner.

Yet the Filipino people did not regard this as extraordinary; at first they resisted violently all attempts of the Americans to destroy the disease.

But the Filipino is observant and not without logic, and one circumstance began soon to make an impression. When smallpox swept a particular village the people with scars on their arms invariably escaped the sickness.

Philippines were trained as vaccinators, the assistance of local dignitaries enlisted, and a complete and orderly campaign was outlined.

The priests, mayors and influential leaders would collect their people, lecture them on the blessings of vaccination, and entice them to submit themselves and their children to the visitors.

Not since Jenner's important discovery has the world had so complete an illustration of its usefulness.

An illustration of its usefulness. Dr. Heiser has vaccinated 10,000,000 Filipinos without one single death—a record that surpasses anything that even the Germans have done.

MINNEAPOLIS TO GET IT.

Minneapolis is going to have a Billy Sunday campaign. Evidently, judging from recent disclosures, a Sunday campaign is needed to jolt a little righteousness into the flour city.

DECISION OF THE SUPREME COURT

From Renville County. L. O. Jacobson, plaintiff and appellant, vs. Mutual Telephone company, a corporation, defendant and respondent.

An action will not lie to recover money which is alleged to have been paid under a mistake or an ignorance of the law where such payment is voluntarily made, and with full knowledge of all the facts and is not induced by any fraud or improper conduct on the part of the payee, and where such payment is made in satisfaction of a moral obligation to such payee or of a contingent liability.

Action to recover money claimed to have been paid on account of a mistake of law affirmed.

Appeal from the district court of Renville county, Leighton, J. judgment for defendant. Plaintiff appeals.

Opinion of the court by Bruce, J. Goss, J. concurs specially. Fisk, C. J. dissents.

F. B. Lambert, of Minot, attorney for plaintiff and appellant.

Swenson & Rotsdeter, of Mohall, and Bradford & Nash, of Minot, attorneys for defendant and respondent.

VOLLEY BALL LEAGUE AT "Y" STARTS TODAY

All Arrangements for the League Have Been Completed—Schedule Will Start This Afternoon.

Final arrangements have been made in starting the Business Men's Volley Ball league at the local Y. M. C. A., and the first games will be played this afternoon when the Quins meet the Colts, and the Tigers meet the Elephants.

Some very interesting and exciting games are being looked for, and judging from the interest shown by the men, every point will be hotly contested.

The following is the personnel of the four teams:

Colts—P. Robinson, capt., P. W. Satory, V. R. Lovell, F. L. Anders, J. Burtenshaw, H. Stern, H. T. Horner, E. C. Anderson, J. H. Johnson, T. Janney, J. J. Peckler.

Tigers—C. Foster, capt., A. J. Danton, F. O. Knorr, Sol Simons, A. G. Miller, F. V. Hutchinson, H. Harrington, H. E. Reynolds, R. J. Cone, J. A. Shaw.

Cubs—P. L. Opfer, capt., L. Mowery, C. C. Pitsch, Dr. F. Mowery, T. Greenhous, J. Sclander, E. H. Hendrickson, W. F. Johnson, E. Opfer, H. Loomis, Dr. Graham.

Elephants—W. M. Murphy, capt., R. Wolf, J. H. Jackson, F. H. Wilder, A. P. O'Neil, A. Whelock, Aug. Hanson, E. C. Watkins, F. H. Chaney, W. E. Bachman, J. Narratte.

YOUNG WOMEN MAY AVOID PAIN

Need Only Trust to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, says Mrs. Kurtzweg.

Buffalo, N. Y.—"My daughter, whose picture is herewith, was much troubled with pains in her back and sides every month and she would sometimes be so bad that it would seem like acute inflammation of some organ. She read your advertisement in the newspapers and tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

She praises it highly as she has been relieved of all these pains by its use. All mothers should know of this remedy, and all young girls who suffer should try it."

Young women who are troubled with painful or irregular periods, backache, headache, dragging-down sensations, fainting spells or indigestion, should take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Thousands have been restored to health by this root and herb remedy.

If you know of any young woman who is sick and needs help, please write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. Only women will receive her letter, and it will be held in strictest confidence.

FOR SALE—POTATOES

North Dakota Kernels

The farmers of the state will soon be in the field.

A train was stalled in a snow drift near Van Hook for forty hours.

At New Rockford the King Land Co. and the Carlson Land Co. have consolidated.

A contract has been let for the construction of a new Catholic church at Van Hook.

Bismarck will vote on a $50,000 bond proposition for the erection of a new school house.

The Wahpeton Tennis club has elected officers and is preparing for the coming season.

The indications are that the chautauqua camp for boys at Mandan is going to be a large one.

The Rolla Commercial club held its annual meeting and has decided to hold a fair at that place.

A large number of immigrants have arrived at McHenry. Six carloads of goods arrived there in one week.

The state fair this year will be held at Fargo and will exceed anything of the kind ever held in North Dakota.

It will probably be a long time before the matter of resubmission comes to the vote of the people of North Dakota.

Names have been chosen for a number of towns that will be located on the extension of the line west from Wildrose.

March was a busy month in the state treasurer's office. Over $2,000,000 was paid into the treasury during that time.

Mail is being counted as a result of the efforts of the Post Yates Commercial club to get better mail service at that place.

The church people at Spring Valley, near Van Hook, have decided to erect a new church building. The church will be a United Lutheran church.

Oakes will witness quite a building boom this spring. There will be a large business block 50x100 feet.

The indications are that Minot will have additional fire equipment as a result of the recommendations of the chief of the fire department of that city.

Van Hook will probably have a white way in the near future. The city council has taken up the matter and it has been decided to put in twelve four-foot posts.

James H. Penny was selected to fill the vacancy in the office of county auditor of Rolette county, caused by the resignation of Jas. A. Brown appointed to the state board of control.

It looks as though there would be trouble in getting the resubmission petitions properly signed. It is doubtful if the people are so anxious for this matter to come to a vote again.

The Central School Supply Co. has recently been organized in Bismarck and will soon be ready to commence business. The officers of the concern are W. L. Cross, president, and J. F. Peary, secretary-treasurer.

The county commissioners of Stutsman county ordered the state attorney to begin an action against the Dakota Trust Co. for not paying the balance of $3,775.22 for which the Dakota Trust Co. is liable under a bond given the county for the deposit of this sum in the Medina State bank.

William McDermaid, who has been roadmaster on the Northern Pacific line out of Carrington for several years, has been transferred to the main line with headquarters at Jamestown, and will have charge of the roadbed between there and Bismarck. He has moved to Jamestown.

The Pembina Presbytery was held at Inkster last week. Rev. F. W. Walker Pugh of Larimore was elected moderator, and Rev. L. E. Hendrickson of Langdon, clerk. Joseph Whaley of Elkmont and Rev. P. Finlayson of Park River were elected commissioners, with Rev. J. K. McInnes of Forest River, J. Radcliffe of Larimore as alternates.

R. A. Nestos, who has been state attorney of Ward county for nearly two terms, has resigned his position and will devote all of his time and attention to campaigning for the republican nomination for United States senator. C. B. Hirstead, who has been assistant state attorney for some time, will be appointed by the board of county commissioners to fill out the unexpired term.

Mercer County Star: The third overflow of the river this spring is with us this week and it is the highest the river has been this season. All traffic south of town is cut off and railroad service is badly hampered. Bridges are out all along the line, both east and west of Hazen and trains are at a standstill. Another overflow can be expected, and the cause is caused by the large amount of snow which fell Wednesday. The time will come we hope when the Northern Pacific will cease doing things by halves and place bridges along its lines that are sufficient to withstand these spring rises of the river.

Mott Pioneer Press: The Mott Pioneer Press during the past month has turned down three advertising schemes of merchants who are not in business in the white city, and we will continue to do so, as we do not believe a paper is serving the best interests of its community when it supports these "fly by night merchants," who are here today and somewhere else tomorrow. Our merchants are all here paying taxes, supporting our schools, churches and other institutions, and doing all in their power to build up the community and are entitled to have the protection of the paper in whose columns they are advertising their business and to whom they are giving their support. Whether it is good business policy or not, The Mott Pioneer Press will continue to keep out of its advertising columns the class of ads it has turned down during the past month.

Jewish Wedding at Devils Lake Attended By Crowd of Friends

Devils Lake, N. D., April 10.—In the presence of a great audience of friends at the I. O. O. F. hall Sunday evening Miss Sophie Kees, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Kees of New York city, became the bride of Alex B. Cantor, a well-known young man of Devils Lake and a member of the local Typographical union. Following the ceremony, which was presided over by Grand Forks rabbi, a feast was enjoyed, when the young couple received the congratulations of scores of guests.

COLLEGE STANDING AND SUCCESS

(Paul Banker in Commerce and Finance.)

It is a popular fiction that the men who have taken honors at college very often fail to attain prominence in the affairs of later life. Ever so often the belief is exploded, by some one who has taken the trouble to investigate the facts.

An alumnus of Harvard recently went over the honor lists of his alma mater between the years 1851 and 1890 and compared them with the names of Harvard men in "Who's Who." He found that 41.5 per cent of the men who were among the "first ten" in their classes are mentioned. Of those who took the degrees summa cum laude 42.5 per cent received notice. Twenty-two out of thirty of the "first scholars" are mentioned and of between 8,000 and 9,000 graduates 1,305 in all attained sufficient prominence to warrant having a place in "Who's Who."

The statistics of the members of Phi Beta Kappa are another striking example of the relation of scholarship to success. The three last presidents of the United States are members of Phi Beta Kappa and the roster of the great men who wear the key is an impressive list.

Standards of excellence have changed much since the old days in American colleges. Then scholarship was the only means by which a young man attained prominence. Now athletics and many other extra-curriculum activities distract the youth's attention from ideas of scholarship.

Graduates even in this day and generation in their annual "class vote" award a store by intellectual achievement that athletic glory which a Phi Beta Kappa key is named as the most desirable thing of a college course.

A man can not attain honors in the higher class educational institutions of the country without having developed those attributes of thoroughness and concentration which are the mainstays of scholarship.

THE LESSON OF VERDUN

(By James Douglas in London Opinion.)

Some weeks ago I advised my readers to "watch and wait for Hindenburg in the west." Whether Hindenburg is or is not conducting the attack on Verdun, it is certain that his methods are being employed. At least half a million men and at least two thousand guns are battering Verdun on three sides. The Germans are using their heavy guns as if they were machine-guns. The French are standing up against a weight of metal which staggers and beggars the imagination. There never has been anything like it in war. The truth is that the Germans, after nineteen months, are able to pour out streams of high explosives which blast the earth into chaos foot by foot and yard by yard. Their munition factories are maintaining their marvelous productivity in spite of our blockade.

The French defense is beyond all praise and past all eulogy. It is consummately cool, consummately skillful, consummately heroic. The French are playing the game as if it were a game of chess. Their generalship is superb and their fighting quality is superb. They foresee every move, and for every pawn they sacrifice, they take a bishop or a rook. They obstinately refuse to be rattled at any point. It is a duel of brains, and sentiment plays no part in it. I think there is no doubt that the French will sell Verdun to Switzerland. They are willing to pay the full price for it. But the price is very high. It is so high that the Germans are the worst of the deal, whether they pay the full price or whether they shrink from paying it.

The one thing we must never forget is that Verdun is no longer cut off from the rest of France. The forts of Verdun are as utterly out of date as wooden warships. They mean no more than any other part of the An-North sea to Switzerland. They are merely masses of obsolete masonry and concrete which have been emptied of their guns and gunners and their crews. The general public does not realize this elementary truth. It still dreams of forts and fortresses in the terms of the old warfare. It does not grasp the fact that war has changed fundamentally, and that fixed defenses are no longer of any use to the defenders.

I do not say that Verdun will fall, but I do say that if the Germans choose to pay the French price for its capture they will get it. They can exploit the capture of an empty shell in order to raise their new war loan and in order to impress the unwillingly and the ignorant neutrals. The mere capture of Verdun is a name to conjure with, and we may trust the Germans to conjure with it until they extract the last penny of their conquering there. After all their conjuring there will be "no forrader." The French line will still be unbroken and unbreakable, and they will be forced to face the Russian, French, British, Italian and Serbian offensives with shattered and depleted resources in guns and shells and men.

For us the lesson of Verdun is plain and unmistakable. It is this. The Germans are not yet beaten or anything like beaten. Their gun-power, their shell-power, and their man-power are not yet exhausted, or anything like exhausted. They are not yet like exhausted. They are not yet like exhausted to economize either their shells or their soldiers. They are still able to expend both shells and soldiers lavishly and prodigally. It is folly to assume that this is their last despairing and desperate effort. They still possess the initiative, and the allies are not yet seized the initiative. They are still waging an offensive war, and the allies are still waging a defensive war. In plain English, the Germans are still superior in war-power and the allies are still inferior. Otherwise the allies would be waging an offensive war and the Germans would be waging a defensive war.

Let us fix that fact firmly in our minds. There is no getting away from it. We must therefore face the grim reality that it is necessary to do more than we have done in order to enable us to seize the initiative and do unto the Germans exactly what the Germans are doing unto Verdun. How? Well, I think the only essential thing is for all classes in this country to unite in order to increase our output of shells, guns and shells. I do not believe that any class in this country realizes the seriousness of the crisis through which we have got to fight our way this spring, and this summer, and this autumn. I hear incredible, but unfortunately true, tales about the selfish greed of employers. I cannot publish what I know—yet, at all events. But there are people in this country who are still after profit and not for victory; people who are thinking more of what they can make out of their country than of what they can sacrifice for their country.

Justice the Foundation Principle of Christian Character.

The Necessity For the Recognition of the Principle of Justice—The Golden Rule Should Be the Basis of Our Dealings—Disciplinary Self-Training Necessary to Attainment of Character—High Standard Demanded of the Church of Christ, the Future Judges of the World.

Trenton, N. J., April 8.—Pastor Russell was here today, and gave a very interesting sermon from the text, "Fight the good fight of faith; lay hold on eternal life, whereunto thou art called; and hast professed a good profession before many witnesses."

The Pastor introduced his theme by showing that the sins of those who now leave the world to follow Jesus are covered by the imputation of His sacrificial merit, that they may join with Him in sacrifice and thus be accounted worthy to reign with Him during the Millennium. They are to be distinctly a New Creation. This covering of their sins continues from the time they become Christians until they complete their course in death. During this period each one must battle against the downward tendencies of his flesh. Each will thus have a severe conflict, and by the close of his life in the flesh will have demonstrated to the Lord to what extent he has been loyal in striving against sin.

The soldiers of the Cross must not merely fight against error, but must strive against sin. It is important to have recognized that we have been under a cloud of error in times past and to have come out into the light of God's Truth. But correct doctrine is only a means to an end. The most important thing is to get rid of SIN. While God wishes His people to be free from doctrinal errors, yet He especially desires them to be free from any sympathy with sin, unrighteousness, iniquity, iniquity.

In other words, God wishes His people to be very loyal to the Golden Rule. To learn this lesson sometimes requires years of experience. Very many have not practised JUSTICE in their dealings with others. But from the time that one becomes a follower of the Lord Jesus, and sees that Justice is the very foundation of God's Throne, he begins to realize that God expects him to observe the Golden Rule. Each should begin at home, with his parents, his companion in life, his children. The Golden Rule should affect all our affairs—everything that we do or say.

If we could get this thought thoroughly worked into our hearts and lives, it would bring a great blessing not only to ourselves, but to others. God's people are not to measure themselves by the world; for the world does not heed this rule. Neither should they measure themselves by other Christians; for many are called Christians, but few are chosen. The people of the Holy Spirit, who are in the School of Christ, we should measure ourselves only by God's Word.

Natural Traits Require Attention. Our Lord Jesus not only kept the Golden Rule inviolate in every instance, but did much more. He gave life itself for the sake of others. His followers engage to do likewise. They are to follow the Golden Rule, and to lay down their lives for the brethren, as well as to do for the world as they have opportunity. This is the Bible thought for all of Christ's followers.

There is a tendency among the Lord's people, however, to violate intentionally these fundamental principles of Justice and Love. But "the Lord will judge His people," not according to their estimate of themselves, but according to His knowledge of their ability. Mercy will be granted for every unintentional defect, but not for what could have been avoided. God holds us responsible for the best of which we are capable.

Those who are living up to their opportunities and privileges should press on with courage, doing the very best that they can, exercising full assurance of faith, and having absolute confidence in the Lord; for He has promised a sufficiency of grace to cover every imperfection. Thus they will receive a rich blessing. But no excuse can be offered for carelessness, for failure to make the most of one's duties and responsibilities. As the Apostle enjoins, "Be not deceived; God is not mocked; for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap."

We are all imperfect in the flesh; but God holds the spirit-begotten New Creature responsible for not doing his best, for carelessness respecting his conduct, for indifference to the requirements of the Golden Rule, for failure to exercise the spirit of Love and to bear the New Creature who will fail to bear the "Well done, good and faithful servant," unless he exercise great care respecting these important matters. God will have none in the glorified Church of Christ who will not measure up fully to the standard required—"conformed to the image of His Son."—Romans 8:29.
