The Leading Newspaper in Central West Virginia. Published Every Week-day Evening and Sunday Morning by the CLARKSBURG TELEGRAM COMPANY, Clarksburg, W. Va.

MONDAY, MARCH 22, 1915. CITY REPUBLICAN TICKET.

- FOR MAYOR: G. Harry Gordon. FOR CHIEF OF POLICE: Harry L. Brooks. FOR CITY CLERK: Albert J. Bishop.

An Evening Echo. Life is made up of little things, and he that scorns them despises his own real interest.—J. W. BARKER.

There may be one guy, but only one, who believes that stuff the Exponent guy pulled off that Guy will be the next mayor of Clarksburg. It looks as if the guy was trying to guy Guy.

A current federal census bulletin contains the information that there are but six states in the union whose per capita cost of state government is lower than that of West Virginia.

Thrift in War Time. Years of great prosperity are before us, and the continuing habit of thrift among the people will fortify America in its new role of world banker and assure the prosperity of the nation indefinitely.—Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

With the great European nations out of the market as lenders of money, there is greater need in America for the cultivation of the saving habit among the people to accumulate capital with which to finance not only the growing demands of this nation, but also of those portions of the world that remain at peace.

But will they? The trouble is that as the prosperity of the country has grown, most people have taken on more costly habits of living. It is easy to let the dimes and dollars slip away into new ways of spending, and triply hard to return to former frugal habits. This is a time for persons in moderate circumstances to cast away all false pride. They should feel no shame, even if they cook their own dinners, shine their own shoes, shovel their own snow and carry their own suitcases when traveling.

The Life Insurance companies advertise that only five per cent of those who die leave an estate. Ninety-five men make money, only five provide for the future. Out of this five per cent who leave estates, much more than one-half are found among the poorer class of people.

Clark is Right. The New York Sun hits it about right in the following editorial: At first glance the subjoined declaration made by Representative Champ Clark of Missouri may seem to be somewhat overdrawn:

President Wilson bears a heavier load than any president since Abraham Lincoln has borne. Yet the former speaker of the House is well within the fact when he thus describes the burden under which Woodrow Wilson today attacks the onerous duties of his office.

Among these sixteen men who since Lincoln's day have served in the office of secretary of state there was not one who was not of respectable attainments, acute realization of the importance of his duties and devotion to the performance of his task.

When a Telegram editor picked up Puck a day or two ago to read fiction and other stuff, his eye soon fell on an article headed "Beating the Clock." The head suggested something out of the ordinary, which proved the case, when he read the following concerning Pastor Russell.

On January 20, under the caption "Pastor Russell's Lamb," London Truth devotes a very interesting exposure to the activities of the benevolent Brooklyn divine whose "sermons" have long graced the columns of our press as paid advertisements.

In the New York Herald, February 22, "Pastor" Russell's sermon starts off as follows: Duluth, Minn., February 21.—Pastor Russell preached here twice today. The large auditorium was filled to overflowing and hundreds were turned away.

The practical application of chemistry in the administration of a large hotel in a western city has lately added a fully equipped chemical laboratory and engaged a graduate chemist and two assistants.

The woman at the door made no reply, and Sandbar Thud, for such was his name, continued enthusiastically. "Any stain, madam, no matter how long it is or how long it's been there. Take berry stains—crab berry, huckleberry, fishberry, havyberry, beri-berry, dickerberry, stishberry, nooseberry—Sussell's Stain Stabber removes them all. Will you allow me to demonstrate, madam?"

INDOORS From 8 to 5 often weakens even a strong constitution as shown in nervous symptoms, languor and repeated colds. SCOTT'S EMULSION is helping thousands every day; its rare oil-food enriches the blood, aids the lungs—it is a strength-sustaining tonic free from alcohol. TRY IT!

tralia and Scandinavia, in four languages." Was this interesting message from Duluth, ticked off by telegraph and cable in four languages to fifteen hundred newspapers all around the globe, or is it on a par with "Pastor" Russell's world-famous prediction made in 1888:

TRAVELETTE By Nilsaab

TIERRA DEL FUEGO.

This group of islands just south of the South America and touched by the chill of the southern polar regions contains some of the most sombre and impressive scenery in the world. The main island is ribbed by a steep and rugged mountain range with its crest in the clouds and its feet in the sea. Great glaciers reach from the perpetual snows upon the highest peaks down to the misty fjords along the coast, and all is overhung by gray rainclouds almost every day by the year.

In spite of this dampness, the climate of Tierra del Fuego is found to be by no means unhealthy. The winters are in reality mild with the exception of occasional spells of very severe weather, while there is a delightful average summer temperature of about fifty degrees.

The natives of Tierra del Fuego are a unique and interesting people who are rapidly disappearing. The Onas, who are the principal tribe of the main island, are a splendid copper-colored race whose men average nearly six feet in height and will live entirely by hunting. These Onas are perhaps the swiftest and most powerful men on earth, for they run down wild game by sheer speed of foot. Their existence depends upon their physical fitness, and they make a religion of health and strength, hitting off the unfit among themselves like the ancient Spartans.

HOTEL CHEMISTS.

The hotel chemist makes a special study of soaps and cleansing powders. These apparently insignificant items cost thousands of dollars annually in a large hotel. The individual cakes of soap supplied to all guests are beginning to receive consideration, since a Colorado woman has threatened suit for a skin irritation, said by her doctor to be due to some ingredient in the soap furnished her at a hotel.

"I see dirt—I mean dirt on your face, madam, but I assure you this stain remover will remove any kind of a stain you may ever mention. Perhaps, though, you don't care to mention any," said the hard working young agent for Stissel's Stain Stabber.

The woman at the door made no reply, and Sandbar Thud, for such was his name, continued enthusiastically. "Any stain, madam, no matter how long it is or how long it's been there. Take berry stains—crab berry, huckleberry, fishberry, havyberry, beri-berry, dickerberry, stishberry, nooseberry—Sussell's Stain Stabber removes them all. Will you allow me to demonstrate, madam?"
