DENIES CHARGES AGAINST JURIST

Attorney Worthington Says None of Them Was Proven by Testimony.

IGNORED IN THE HOUSE REPORT

In a statement given out yesterday by A. S. Worthington, of this city, counsel for Judge Robert W. Archbald, of the the United States Commerce Court, against whom the House Committee on the Judiciary has reported impeachment proceedings, it is declared that all the chief charges made against Judge Archbald were completely disproved by evidence placed before the committee and that no reference is made to any one of them in the report of the committee or in the articles of impeachment.

The statement given out by Mr. Worthington is a lengthy one, and ends with the declaration that "Judge Archbald will have no opportunity to present his defense until he is summoned before the Senate, and until he has had a hearing there he asks that public opinion in his case may be suspended."

Chairman Clayton, of the House Committee on the Judiciary, will on Thursday call up in the House the articles of impeachment and the report of the committee. If the House votes to impeach Judge Archbald, Chairman Clayton will at once ask for the appointment of managers or prosecutors to conduct the case against Judge Archbald when the Senate fixes a date for his trial.

Opinion seems to be divided among Senators as to whether the trial should be immediately undertaken. Some Senators express the opinion that it should, while others believe that Congress should take a recess when it decides upon adjournment for the summer to a date in November shortly after the election, when the trial could then be begun.

Statement by Worthington.

In the statement given out, Mr. Worthington relates the principal charges against Judge Archbald made to the President and by him communicated to the Attorney General.

"All these charges," he says, "it will be seen, related to Judge Archbald's official acts, except the third, and that charged that he had corruptly influenced another judge in the final decision of a case.

"By the evidence before the Judiciary Committee of the House, every one of these charges were so completely disproved that no reference is made to any one of them in the report of the committee or in the articles of impeachment.

"The committee, however, has recommended the impeachment of Judge Archbald on thirteen other charges, only two of which relate to the performance by him of any judicial act, and in neither one of the two excepted cases is it charged that he acted corruptly."

Mr. Worthington says that the principal charge preferred by the Judiciary Committee against Judge Archbald is embraced in the first article of impeachment submitted by the committee to the House, and this article relates to Judge Archbald's connection with the attempted purchase from the Hillside Coal and Iron Company, a subsidiary of the Erie Railroad Company, of its interest in the Katydid culm dump.

"That Judge Archbald was interested in the proposed purchase is not denied," says Mr. Worthington. "It is not claimed by any one that the mere fact that a Federal judge is interested in the attempted purchase of property from one who is or may be a litigant in his court is a criminal offense or is even in itself evidence of a corrupt mind. In its report the sole ground upon which committee relies in reaching its conclusion that in this particular case Judge Archbald acted corruptly is the evidence as to the value of the Katydid culm dump. The committee assumes that the interest of the Hillside Company in the dump was worth a great deal more than Judge Archbald and his associates were willing to pay for it."

A vote on the Clayton report, recommending the impeachment of Judge Archbald, will be taken in the House to-morrow. This question went over yesterday, owing to the desire of the leaders to continue the debate on the pending bill limiting the power of Federal judges in punishing for contempt. The contempt bill, as well as the Archbald case, will be disposed of Thursday. To-day is Calendar Wednesday, and only certain specified bills, under the rules, can be considered.

Many Nations to Participate in Exposition at San Francisco

Brig. Gen. Edwards Returns to Capital from Record Trip to Europe.

Clarence R. Edwards, who when he isn't playing golf with President Taft is a brigadier general in the United States Army, returned to Washington Monday from Europe with a most remarkable score card. The general said—and he has the documents to prove it—that the trip he made with the American commission urging participation in the Panama-Pacific exposition to be held at San Francisco in 1915 has never been equaled.

Out of a possible fifteen sovereigns—Kings, Emperors, &c.—Gen. Edwards and the other members of the commission were received by thirteen. The other two—the Emperor of Germany and the Czar of Russia—had the misfortune to be absent from their capitals when the American commissioners dashed through.

In forty-two days the commissioners visited fifteen different countries, made the circuit of Continental Europe twice, besides crossing the Atlantic and back again. Gen. Edwards says he spent twenty-three nights on a sleeping car in making this round. Their itinerary, as Gen. Edwards recites it, sounds like a lesson in geography, or a time table of the world. Here it is:

"Well, we started in at London, went from London over to Berlin, from Berlin to St. Petersburg, to Moscow, to Vienna, and thence to Budapest; from Budapest to Venice, and then down to Rome, up to Paris, and over to Brussels then back through Paris again to Lisbon and Madrid, and down to Barcelona; then up to Berne and back to Berlin, up to Stockholm, and from there over to Christiania, and down again to Copenhagen, to The Hague; then to London, where Admiral Staunton and I left the party and came home."

Gen. Edwards didn't say whether it was for want of breath that he stopped or why.

Gen. Edwards represented the army on the American commission, which numbered besides himself John Hays Hammond, representing President Taft; Reuben Hale, vice president of the exposition company; William Sesnon, of San Francisco, and Rear Admiral Sidney A. Staunton, representing the navy.

"We outlined to the various governments," said Gen. Edwards, "the plans for a great international camp at San Francisco, to be located on the vast grounds of the Presidio. Such an international camp has never before been attempted. We also pointed out how the military detachments of each nation, together with bands, if bands were to be sent, might be placed on board the thirteen warships of the participating nations, and brought to the very gates of the exposition without the expenditure of one cent for railroad transportation.

"The response we received was most gratifying. Extensive participation in the exposition was promised us in each capital we visited, such participation dependent, of course, upon the granting of the necessary funds by the national legislatures. The several governments esteemed it a great compliment that President Taft should have sent to their countries the commission to supplement the invitation he addressed to them through diplomatic channels."

BRIG. GEN. CLARENCE R. EDWARDS.

MORAN TO HEAD DISTRICT A. O. H.

National Director Leaves for Chicago To-day to Attend Annual Convention of Order.

P. T. Moran, national director of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, will leave the city this afternoon for Chicago to attend the annual convention of the organization, which will open July 15 and continue for four days.

He is leaving in advance of the District delegation so as to attend the sessions of the National Board of the order, which commences to-morrow. The local delegation will leave Washington about 3:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon. The party will be composed of P. F. Carr, District president; William McEvoy, District secretary; Thomas McGrath, District treasurer; Joseph Sullivan, District vice-president; Thomas O'Dea, delegate-at-large; Delegate John McConnell; Rev. Father Dougherty, District chaplain; and Mgr. Thomas J. Shahan, rector of Catholic University.

Plans will be commenced for the holding of a celebration in October, 1913, in connection with the unveiling of the statute of Commodore John Barry in Franklin Park of this city. Mr. Moran said last night that the demonstration will be planned on a scale similar to that of the Columbus celebration. About twenty Irish organizations will combine with the Hibernians in appropriately celebrating the occasion. Congress has already appropriated $50,000 for the erection of the monument. The work is being done by a New York artist.

It will be announced at the convention that more than $40,000 has been raised for Catholic Church extension work. This amount will be presented to Father Keller, of Chicago, president of the Church Extension Society. An appeal will be made for subscriptions toward the Cardinal Gibbons Memorial Hall at the Catholic University, which is now nearing completion. It is proposed to build an addition to the structure, which will call for additional contributions.

Mgr. Shahan will address the Hibernians on the subject of education and the need of more scholarships for the Catholic University.

There will be about 800 male delegates and about 450 women at the convention. The District delegation leaving Sunday will be joined by about 150 delegates from Pennsylvania, Virginia, and Delaware. Mr. Moran will exhibit a highly-prized medal, which was awarded the order at the Paris exposition in 1900 for having accomplished the greatest amount of charitable work of the organizations of its kind in America. This prize has been up to the present kept among the archives of the District Hibernians.

WILL ATTEND SESSIONS IN THE WINDY CITY

P. T. MORAN,
National A. O. H. Director.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

U. S. Dept. of Agriculture, Weather Bureau, Washington, Tuesday, July 9, 1912—8 p. m.

There will be thunder showers Wednesday in the Upper Mississippi Valley and the Upper Lake region, and the showers will probably be followed by a brief period of lower temperatures and be generally fair weather Thursday. There will also be local showers Wednesday and probably Thursday in the Lower Lake region and the Atlantic States, but temperatures will remain comparatively high over southern districts. Over the western half of the country the weather will be generally fair Wednesday and Thursday, except in the Lower Missouri Valley, where there will be showers Wednesday with somewhat lower temperatures.

The winds along the New England and Middle Atlantic coasts will be moderate and variable; on the South Atlantic and Gulf coasts moderate southerly; on the Lower Lakes moderate, mostly southerly, and on the Upper Lakes moderately southerly, becoming variable on Michigan and Huron.

BIG MASS MEETING CLOSES STUDY DAY

Fruitage Day will be observed to-day by the general convention of the International Bible Students' Association, which will be in session at Glen Echo, the auditorium of the New Masonic Temple, and the Academy of Music. There will be a praise testimony meeting at 9 o'clock this morning, at which L. F. Zink and O. L. Sullivan will speak. A praise service will take place at 2 o'clock this afternoon, to be followed by a symposium on the fruits and graces of the Holy Spirit.

Yesterday's sessions wound up with a mass meeting at the Academy of Music last night, which was crowded to the doors with the delegates and visitors. The meeting was held in honor of Pastor Russell, of the Brooklyn Tabernacle, who delivered an address on the work of the association and its aims.

Other speakers yesterday were J. A. Bohnet, of Pittsburg, and H. C. Rockwell, of New York. At the close of yesterday afternoon's meeting many arose in the audience and gave testimony of their faith in Christ's teachings, and of the great spiritual benefit they have derived therefrom.

While no special arrangements have been made for baptisms, it is believed that arrangements will soon be made for the use of a baptistry of one of the Baptist churches of the city. Those who are immersed have the privilege of joining any church of their preference, the object of the leaders of the association being to get them to make their profession of faith and then choose the denomination in which they may care to labor.

ATTEMPTS SUICIDE IN SAME OLD WAY

Gus Mutschal Returns to Insane Hospital and Uses a Razor on His Neck.

Returning voluntarily to the Government Hospital for the Insane, the scene of one of his former attempts at suicide while an insane patient, Gus Mutschal, fifty-seven years old, of Alexandria, yesterday afternoon made a desperate attempt to end his life by slashing his throat with a razor in the sight of a score of patients strolling about the grounds.

His life was saved by G. L. Law, an attendant, who ran to Mutschal and tripped him, throwing the would-be suicide so heavily that the razor was knocked from his hand. Before Mutschal could jump to his feet he was pinned to the ground by Law, who held the man with a knee on his chest and called for aid. Law was almost exhausted before other attendants restrained Mutschal.

A cut in Mutschal's throat was sewed up by surgeons at the hospital and he was placed in the custody of police of the Eleventh precinct. He was charged with insanity and removed to the Washington Asylum Hospital for observation.

While a patient in the hospital in 1901 Mutschal purloined a keen-edged bread knife, and, while exercising in the grounds with other patients, he cut his throat with the knife. After this attempt Mutschal improved mentally, and in 1906 he was discharged as cured.

The police have been unable to learn where Mutschal has been living since he left the Soldiers' Home.
