Mack Fay Get Sheehan To Quit Senate Race

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 28.—The Senatorial situation has become so threatening to the Democratic party in New York State that Norman E. Mack, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, is going to take a hand. He will be in New York tomorrow with Charles F. Murphy and William F. Sheehan. It would cause no surprise here if Sheehan were to announce his withdrawal from the contest on Monday or Tuesday.

Massachusetts Laughs At Governor Foss

BOSTON, Mass., Jan. 28.—All Boston is laughing at the "bull" made by Governor Foss yesterday in his issuance of a "Lincoln Day proclamation." In the course of the eulogy of the martyred president, Governor Foss recommended that all schools be closed at noon and that all places of business suspend operations as far as possible. In the course of the day some one called at the Statehouse and inquired if the proclamation referred to Sunday schools. The point was seen, and the proclamation was published in the papers and the joke is on the governor who evidently failed to look on the calendar and see that February 12 falls on a Sunday.

Volcano Taal Active; Natives Terror Stricken

MANILA, Jan. 28.—Terror-stricken natives are rushing into the towns and cities of Luzon from the vicinity of Bombon Lake, on a small island in the middle of which the volcano Taal is in eruption. Over 100 earthquake shocks were registered in this city early this morning in the course of four hours. This is Taal's first activity since 1873.

Spanish Glad Queen Intends Going Home

MADRID, via Hendaye, France, Jan. 28.—Spanish courtiers are making no attempt to conceal their gratification over the threatened breach between King Alfonso and Queen Victoria, the true state of whose matrimonial affairs was set forth yesterday.

The Queen has never been popular in Spanish court circles, chiefly because she is so lacking in everything that appeals to the Spaniard, and she has been a constant source of broils and economies at the court immediately upon her marriage to Alfonso.

Few Results Obtained At Democratic Caucus

The Democratic members of the House Ways and Means Committee will meet again next Monday to continue the state-making begun at a prolonged but fruitless caucus last night.

Will Lecture Here

PASTOR RUSSELL, Of the Brooklyn Tabernacle.

CAPITAL TO HEAR PASTOR RUSSELL

Lecturer Will Speak at Convention Hall Tomorrow Afternoon.

Pastor Russell, of the Brooklyn Tabernacle, will speak at Convention Hall tomorrow afternoon. He has chosen as his text "Hereafter," and will speak under the auspices of the local Bible societies.

Pastor Russell has been before the public of the country for more than thirty-five years, preaching restitution, under the auspices always of Bible societies. When invited to speak, he does so only on the conditions that the seatings be free, no collection be taken, and opportunity given for absolutely non-denominational services.

The lecturer, who appeared before large audiences last year, is of Scotch-Irish parentage, and has spent practically all of his life in the ministry.

Tags for Spitters Chicagoan's Plan

CHICAGO, Jan. 28.—Chicago spitters will be tagged, Mrs. Robert L. McCall, a well-known club woman, has organized a band of women to crusade against the men who exporate in street cars, elevated trains, and on sidewalks.

The plan is unique. When they discover a man guilty of exporating in any public place, they intend to hand down on him and tag him with a card which asks:

"Will you become a crusader?" "Underneath is printed:

"In the interest of health, cleanliness, and the law, you are earnestly requested to co-operate in enforcing the existing and reasonable sanitary regulations embraced in the following city ordinance:

"Spitting is prohibited upon the sidewalks, in public conveyances, theaters, assembly rooms, public buildings, and similar places."

President Will Not Call Extra Session

President Taft does not intend to call an extra session of Congress for the purpose of ratifying the reciprocity agreement. This statement is made by close friends of the President.

While the President intends to urge reciprocal legislation in nearly every feasible way, he will not go to the point of calling an extra session. Senators close in the confidence of the President asserted this today. They said the President had nothing to gain and much to lose by calling an extra session.

Some of the Senators have invited expressions from their constituents on the reciprocity agreement, and intend to be guided by these.

No One to Claim Estate of $5,000

Notice that the estate of John G. Maynard, which is valued at more than $5,000, is without a claimant, was given in Probate Court today, when Justice Gould named Col. Benjamin Bingham collector.

Maynard died in Florida last week, and, according to the petition of Mrs. Nellie A. Rowe, who was his landlady in Washington, he left $5,000 in cash in two local banks, but no known heirs to law. She and Susie Rowe filed the petition, claiming to be creditors.

It is stated in the petition that Maynard boarded at the Rowe home "for years," but never made any mention of having relatives living. However, it is stated, he had at least $5,000, and possibly other collateral.

WILL PRESS VOTE IN LORIMER CASE

Senator Beveridge Expected to Urge Daily Demand for Action.

As soon as Senator Beveridge returns to the Senate, having been absent to arrange for the funeral of David Graham Phillips, he will do his utmost to press a vote in the Lorimer case.

Senator Beveridge, backed by a number of other Senators, is disposed to make a daily demand for a vote until one is had. This will compel the pro-Lorimer Senators to take on themselves the burden of blocking a vote persistently.

Threats to hold back appropriation bills unless a vote is allowed in the Lorimer case are being made about the Senate.

In the discussion of the Lorimer case in the Senate Friday afternoon, Senator Cummins sprung a surprise on those members of the Committee on Privileges and Elections who are taking the position that Senator Lorimer might lose seven tainted votes and still be lawfully elected.

Senator Bailey, along with Senators Gamble and Paynter contend that it should be figured this way: Lorimer got 108 votes out of 202 cast deducting 7 tainted votes, leaves, as they say, 195 valid votes, of which Lorimer got 101 valid votes. This, they contend, would have elected Lorimer.

Senator Cummins insists that, if 7 votes were tainted, Lorimer then got only 101 valid votes out of a total of 202 and hence has no title. Senator Cummins contends that at least 7 of the votes were corrupt.

Tariff Commission Backers Hopeful

Supporters of the tariff commission declared today they were far from having lost hope of getting legislation this session.

Senators who are for tariff commission legislation assert that if the House passes the bill within a reasonable time they will do their utmost to put it through the Senate. And they profess to think they can do so.

The plan of the supporters of the tariff commission in the Senate is to try to get a report without delay from the finance committee. If that is done, they will bend their energies toward getting a vote.

Threats are even heard among the supporters of the commission that appropriate legislation will be held up unless a vote is allowed on the tariff commission question. Some of the supporters of the legislation say they fear that no other expedient will force a vote. In view of the lateness of the session, it would not be difficult for a band of senators to filibuster and hold up appropriations. This would force to the front the danger of an extra session, which few members of Congress want.

Senator Bailey has been threatening to block the tariff commission at all hazards. But the supporters of the commission in the Senate think he will back down from this position rather than assume responsibility for killing the legislation. They point out that already Bailey has taken on himself the onus of defending Lorimer, that he has had a difference with Chairman Clark over the method of tariff revision, and has come out against schedule by schedule revision, and they think he will hesitate to go to his knees by taking on the onus of killing the tariff commission.

Commander Luby Buried In Annapolis Cemetery

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 28.—The funeral of Commander John F. Luby, U. S. N., who died on January 16, off the Azores, while in command of the U. S. S. Des Moines, took place here this morning. The interment was in the Naval Cemetery. Chaplain H. H. Clark conducted the services, and arrangements were under charge of Commander A. H. Scates.

The Des Moines, under command of Lieut. C. P. Burt, executive officer, brought the body of the deceased officer to Annapolis.

Senator Brown Will Speak Against Lorimer

Senator Brown of Nebraska will be one of the next Senators to speak on the Lorimer case.

Senator Brown will oppose the retention of Lorimer and will take the floor next week.
