Importance of Being Sincere—Be Honest in Everything and You Will Be Priced as a Friend—Baby Is Getting Very Stylish These Days—New Ideas in Wraps for the Baby—Three-piece Sets—Roasting Makes Food More Digestible—Meats or Vegetables to be Roasted Should Always be Put in Boiling Water—Fashion Notes and Household Hints.

IMPORTANCE OF BEING SINCERE.
If women could realize how important it is to be honest they would hesitate a long while before wasting time and anxiety in the attempt to be effective. Almost all women seem to be striving for some effect, and generally the effect they are working so hard to attain is absolutely foreign to their real selves.

There can be no criticism for the woman who is striving to be an improvement upon herself—for to know her own shortcomings and try to improve upon them is a glorious victory for any woman.

It is the woman who wears imitation jewelry and tells you how expensive it is, and the woman who wears an imported gown and tells you she made it herself, to whom I refer—the woman who insults your intelligence.

Remember—Be honest in everything and you will not only be prized as a friend, but you will take great comfort in your own society.

BABY'S OUTFIT.

The baby is getting very stylish these days, particularly in the matter of its wrappings, for the sun-room or the enclosed veranda—that partially heated place where it sits for hours in its wheeled chair or is rolled back and forth in its perambulator. For these daily "sunnings" the ordinary outdoor wraps are too cumbersome and instead of the quilted coat and hood, it wears a hip long jacket coming high about the throat and well over the wrists, and a cute little round cap of closely knitted pale blue, pink, green or yellow four-inch wide stripes divided by white stripes that are at intervals embroidered with a flower design in silk floss. The Afghan that goes with this jacket and cap is in the same design and colorings are fully a yard long by three-quarters of a yard wide. The three pieces make a charming testimonial of a grandmother's or an aunt's affection for the youngest member of the family.

ROASTING MAKES FOOD DIGESTIBLE.

Food is cooked for two reasons—first to make it more palatable, second, to make it more digestible. The first man who roasted a pig—or whatever animal was the subject of the experiment—probably did it by accident, but it tasted so good that he continued the practice and imparted it to his neighbors. His was the greatest invention in the history of the world. He—whenever he was—has been immortalized in Charles Lamb's "Essay on Roast Pig."

The making of food palatable has more than esthetic value. That food appeals to the palate is essential to good digestion. There are homely cooks who deprecate the addition of flavorings, the gravies of condiments, the preparation of gravies and sauces, and assert that "plain cooking" is the best. By "plain cooking" they understand the simple heating of food. But mere heating is not enough to make food either palatable or digestible, unless the heating be done skillfully.

A very hot fire chars the outer parts of meat, and leaves the inner long enough to destroy the greater part of it. The heat should be intense enough at first to coagulate the albumen in the outer parts, thus forming a sort of coat that should be much reduced in order that without charring the outside it may penetrate through and through and gradually soften the inner fibres.

This is what takes place in roasting and broiling, when properly done. The ideal way to roast is the old-fashioned English, before the open fire method, but it has this disadvantage, that roasting meat has a tendency to absorb gases or smoke from the surrounding air. This is easily tested by allowing roast meat to remain in a room of which the atmosphere is laden with tobacco smoke. The oven heated with coal or gas is generally more satisfactory than the open fire, because it is difficult to keep a kitchen free from smoke and smells.

When meat is placed in cold water and brought to a boil the soluble albumen is dissolved into the water and lost. The same is true of the salts and acids which form the chief value of vegetables. Both meat and vegetables, if they are to be boiled, should be plunged into boiling water, which protects the outer retaining skin in much the same way as does roasting, and thereby retains the juices inside.

CROCHET BALL HOLDER.

The wristlet crochet ball holder, which does away with the annoyance of the ball of silk, wool, etc., rolling from your lap, is a new thing that has appeared as a convenience. They are made from a bangle and swivel of white metal to which is attached a polished nickel-plated base, while the person is crocheting, and the metal loop or swivel is passed through the ball, while it rests and revolves on the base. It is hung on the left arm, so the worker only unwinds the yarn as the work progresses, and with no additional labor.

FASHION NOTES.

Striped and checked ribbon will have quite an important place in the spring and summer fashions. The Roman striped ribbon has already had a very marked preference.

It is said that vogue of the frill is about over, that a flaring linen collar which discloses the throat will replace the dainty ruffings we have found so becoming.

Ruches of moire and taffeta are replacing the overworked bandings. It is said a good soldier never looks behind, so too with milady, for she is the only one who does not observe the placing of the silt in her skirt. The latest veil design is the diamond shaped mesh of the thinnest of threads with two large velvet beauty spots.

Cafe-au-lait suede and gray gloves which have been supplanting the white glove the past winter have really come to stay.

SALTS FINE FOR ACHING KIDNEYS

We eat too much meat which clogs Kidneys, then the Back hurts.

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then get fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is harmless to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity. It also neutralizes the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is harmless, inexpensive, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everybody should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean, thus avoiding serious complications.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble. A. R. McIntyre.—Advertisement.

KAIBAB FOREST SHOULD BE USED

Salt Lake, Feb. 28.—"We sincerely hope in the forestry office that we will be able to successfully sell that billion feet of fine timber in the Kaibab national forest, because we realize what a great thing it would mean to this section of the country," said A. F. Potter, associate United States forester, who is at the Hotel Utah attending the conference of district foresters.

We had a number of inquiries from substantial parties that could finance such an enormous project before we ever advertised for bids, and for that reason we believe that the sale will be successful. Of course, we don't know anything about the bids until they are opened in June, and most of those bidding will not send in their bids until almost the last minute. They like to look over the property before they take any steps, and this survey will take some little time."

Mr. Potter was in Salt Lake for the convention of the National Wood Growers' association and made an address at that time about grazing lands on the national forests. Since then he has been making a tour of the west in the interests of the grazing question, and is now on his way to Washington, where he will testify before the committee preparing the Kent grazing bill for congress.

At the conference of district foresters here, one of the most important subjects which has been taken up is the matter of the classification of lands on the national forests," said Mr. Potter. "There has been considerable discussion as to just what constitutes agricultural land and what does not. We want to arrange for the classification of agricultural lands so that a homesteader can walk into a forest supervisor's office and find out just what lands on that particular forest are open to agricultural entry. The recommendations which the district forester at this meeting will make to the forester in Washington will be very helpful. I am sure, in settling this question to the advantage of those who are seeking homesteads."

The conference of foresters, which has been going on for the past week, will conclude this afternoon. The district foresters, who come from all parts of the United States, will leave for their respective posts tonight or tomorrow.

THIRTEEN MONTHS IN LEAVENWORTH PRISON

Great Falls, Mont., Feb. 27.—Clarence Black will spend thirteen months in the Leavenworth federal prison because he trifled with a federal inspector who alleges he had caught him with the "goods" and because he introduced six quarts of liquor upon the Flathead reservation in this state. The authorities suspected Black of bootlegging and when one of the inspectors met him on the road he stopped him and began to search his wagon.

The inspector found damaging evidence, a quart of whisky, but as he turned around with it in his hand, he found himself looking into the business end of Black's pistol. Explaining that he did not mean to take any chances, the bootlegger ordered the inspector to drink every drop of the whisky, which he did, and he became ingloriously drunk. Black made good his escape. Later he was accused of introducing six quarts of liquor upon the reservation and for the two offenses he received a sentence of thirteen months in the Leavenworth penitentiary.

BURGLARS MAKE BIG HAUL IN A HOTEL

Salt Lake, Feb. 28.—Theft of a diamond ring, a seakskin coat and a silver mesh bag valued at approximately $750, stolen during the past week from the apartments of Joe Thompson in the Colonial hotel on West First South, was made known yesterday by a member of the police department.

"I am convinced," said Mr. Thompson last night, "that the thieves entered my apartment at least three times. I had been in the hospital and my wife was in San Francisco. Soon after I returned I missed the diamond ring and reported the matter to the management of the hotel and later to the police. Several days later, when my wife returned from San Francisco, she discovered the loss of her seakskin coat and the silver mesh bag."

SCROFULA ALL OVER BOY'S BODY

Around Mouth, Ears, Eyes, Arms and Legs. Big, Dry, Leathery Blotches. Always Angry Red. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured.

Plummer, Idaho.—"My boy broke out with sores all over his body. It was called scrofula. It seemed to be mostly around his mouth, ears and just above his eyes, then on his little arms and legs. As it went along it got to be dry matter sores and they left big dry leathery blotches just such as a big burn would make, always angry red. He would try and scratch himself and then it would leave big dry scabs and be burning and red. We had to keep him wrapped up in soft linen on account of the irritation. He was very fretful, more so at night."

"I tried all kinds of powders and washes, also did all I was told and it would only relieve him a short while and come right back again. He was about eleven months old when I first got the Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I bathed him twice a day, used the Cuticura Soap freely, patted him dry, then used the Cuticura Ointment. After the second day I noticed he was not so fretful so I began to hope. We began to sleep at night. By the time he was eighteen months old all blisters had disappeared and he was cured. WOMAN GLOBE TROTTER IS IN SALT LAKE

Salt Lake, Feb. 28.—"That country do I like best?" queried Mrs. Katherine G. Post, globe trotter, wife of W. S. Post, a Kemmerer (Wyo.) coal king, who is a guest at the Hotel Utah until tomorrow, when she will be joined by her husband for another tour of the world. "Well," she rejoined, "I think I like Egypt best of all."

Yet when pressed for a cogent reason, womanlike, she contented herself with the eternal feminine "because."

Nevertheless this woman, who hails from the Wyoming town, has seen vastly more of the globe than the average American woman, and perhaps the fact that she and her party ascended the famous old Nile far beyond the ordinary path of the tourist, going up to Shellah, miles beyond the gigantic Assuan dam, may have something to do with her love for Egypt.

"We spent several months in Cairo last winter," said Mrs. Post last night, "and for a world capital there is little or nothing in the night life for the stranger, as it were. After you have been to the native quarter once or twice and seen the same dances and heard the same oriental music, it palls on you, I might remark that you will hardly find anything just like the social spirit of Shepard's hotel anywhere else in the world."

And the gorgeous uniforms seen at all hours of the day more than made up for the wearing of the same."

"I was there when the late J. Pierpont Morgan was staying there one day ago this winter, and as a matter of fact I was quite well acquainted with him," observed Mrs. Post. "And it did seem almost a crime for the rest of us to be gorging ourselves on all the dainties of the season when that poor man was literally starving himself to death, for, as you may probably remember, he was on the strictest kind of a diet for weeks prior to his death."

YOUNG PASTOR WEDS THROUGH GATES' GIFT

New York, Feb. 27.—Miss Virginia Meigs, daughter of Mrs. Henry Meigs of 412 W. Twentieth street, has been married to Rev. Stephen McGinley, a young clergyman from Cody, Wyo. The wedding was made possible through the generosity of the late Charles G. Gates, plunger, stock broker and millionaire, who died suddenly last October in Cody. Shortly before Gates' death, having taken a fancy to the young clergyman, he gave him $22,000 for his church.

The vestrymen of the church were so pleased that they gave $1000 to the rector in order that he might come east and marry Miss Meigs, to whom he had become engaged while he was a theological student in this city. Mr. McGinley had not expected to be able to marry for at least three more years.

UNION PRINTERS' TOURNAMENT

Cincinnati, O., Feb. 28.—The seventh annual baseball tournament of the Union Printers' National Baseball league will be held in this city throughout the week beginning Sunday, August 2, and continue until the following Saturday.

The cities which will send teams are New York, Philadelphia, Indianapolis, Pittsburg, Washington, St. Louis, Boston, Chicago, Detroit, St. Paul and Cleveland. The local team will also compete.

August Herrmann, president of the Cincinnati National league team, himself a union printer, has offered the use of Reiland field to the Printers' league. The winning club will receive a valuable cup known as the Herrmann trophy.

SILVER CUP FOR BEST HARVARD MAN

Cambridge, Mass., Feb. 28.—A silver cup will be given the Harvard player who does the most for this year's baseball team on the attack. The trophy is the gift of Charles Hann Jr., first baseman of the Harvard's 1911 team, and is to be known as the Barrett Wendell, Jr., cup in recognition of the services of Mr. Wendell, who played on four crimson nines that won the championship series from Yale.

The cup will be awarded the man who wins the highest total of points for reaching first base safely, for sacrifice hits, stolen bases, and runs scored. It is planned to award a similar trophy at the end of each baseball season.

BASEBALL NOT AS GOOD AS CRICKET

London, Feb. 27.—"Too much happens in baseball that counts for nothing, according to several British newspapers this morning, and their reference was to the game played yesterday and not to a National league meeting."

Another terrible charge brought against the national pastime is that it is too slow, and now Mike Donlin says he sincerely hopes and prays that the writer that pulled that charge did not base his judgment on the performance of the Giants' center fielder yesterday, who, by the way, happens to be Sir Mique.

The British will have it that baseball is merely glorified rounders, speeded up considerably, dead fellah, but still retaining the form of game that is popular with school children. As a novelty, our cousins on this side of the deep blue sea the game was bally interesting, but, really, was no challenge to their sense of superiority of cricket. Fair enough.

They admit, however, that cricket players have something to learn from baseball in regard to fielding, but complain because in our game only a few runs were made in more than an hour. They also acknowledge that the throwing was amazing, both as to speed and accuracy, and if it were as good in cricket and the catches were made with the same certainty as in baseball, why, fifty runs would be knocked off every inning, which is undoubtedly the tip-off on cricket.

The Americans here say the fact that the game did not stop for tea upset the Briton's whole order of things and spoiled the afternoon. Some of the papers even contended that the game lacked excitement, although it was exciting enough for the Americans that were present.

Bill Klem, the famous umpire, declares that a good deal of the atmosphere was removed from the pastime because he was prohibited from exercising his voice in introducing the players. It is believed now that the hint to cut out introductions and comedy was the notion of our Ambassador Page on his own solution, which shows that it takes all kinds of people to make ambassadors. If the ambassador ever runs for office in Bill Klem's district, we know our vote he won't receive.

The world, the Pastor declared, has been under one general sentence of Divine Justice. "Dying, thou shalt die." But Natural and Spiritual Israel have been dealt with as freed from the original sentence and on trial afresh for life or death under God's judgments, or disciplines. Not all under these have understood them—not all were in condition of heart to receive them.

During the Jewish Age, Israel often lapsed into more or less darkness and idolatry, and failed to see their special privileges and relationship to God under their Covenant. A few, however, discerned with the eye of faith the righteousness of God's dealings. Among these were the Prophets, who declared that the Divine judgments were merciful in the extreme.

Similarly during this Gospel Age Christendom as a whole has not been able to appreciate Divine judgments. But some have been "Israelites indeed," who have been able to rejoice in His judgments, and by faith to realize God's love for them.

Then the Pastor quoted numerous Scriptures showing that during the next Age God's judgments will be abroad in the earth, and will include every member of Adam's race. These will be administered by the Christ, of which our glorified Lord is the Head, and the Church the Body, which glorified also. These judgments will not mean havoc and dismay, but relief and assistance to all who come into line with the righteous arrangements of the Kingdom. The judgments of that thousand-year Day will be severe, but not until they shall have been brought to a clear appreciation of good and evil and their rewards, life and death.

The Pastor declared that there will be no failure respecting God's Oath-bound Covenant made with Abraham—"In thy Seed shall all the families of the earth be blessed." The basis of blessing will be Christ's redemptive work, finished at Calvary. The outworking of that blessing will come through the glorified Lord and the Church. The first work will be the establishment of a righteous Government, in which justice will be laid to the line and righteousness to the plummet.

DIVINE JUDGMENTS ARE ALL BLESSINGS

God's Gracious Provisions For the World of Mankind.

Eternal Torment Wholly Foreign to the Divine Character—God's Judgments Are "Righteous Altogether." Death the Divine Judgment Against the Race of Adam—God's Special Judgments—The World's Judgment During the Millennium—Healing and Uplifting From Sin and Death—Destruction to Willfully Rebellious.

PASTOR RUSSELL

Russell's text for today was: "When Thy judgments are abroad in the earth, the inhabitants of the world will learn righteousness."—Isaiah 26:9.

In beginning, the Pastor stated that only those who reach an advanced degree of knowledge of God's Word can realize that Divine judgments are all good. Under the influence of superstition, not understanding the Scriptures aright, supposing that they teach eternal torment for the majority of the race, we feared God rather than loved Him. We dared not say that such a judgment on God's part was wrong, malicious, devilish; yet we were unable to see it in any other light. Many intelligent minds dislike to think about God and His supposedly terrible purposes respecting humanity—all the result of a misunderstanding of the Bible.

The Pastor demonstrated that the torment doctrines of the Dark Ages are wholly out of accord with the Divine character, which is distinctly marked by Wisdom, Justice, Mercy and Love toward all. He showed that instead of a judgment of eternal torment against the race, the penalty for sin is death; that the verdict, or judgment, is righteous; that God had a perfect right to destroy in death the creature who refused to render the obedience which he was able to give, being perfect.

Another part of the Divine Judgment against humanity is that the death process is gradual. Thus the race is the better enabled to learn the lesson of the "exceeding sinfulness of sin," to the intent that, when granted the new trial secured by the merit of Christ's sacrifice, mankind may profit by it the more.

The Pastor further explained that all the race will have opportunity of coming to a full knowledge of the Truth during the Millennial Reign of Christ, which is God's provision for the world in general. What God did for Natural Israel during the Jewish Age and for Spiritual Israel during this Gospel Age are matters apart from His dealings with mankind. From these two Israel overcomers have been chosen, or elected. The overcomers of Spiritual Israel will constitute the Kingdom class in the highest sense. The overcomers of Natural Israel will constitute the Kingdom's earthly phase. Mankind will see these, but not the glorified Christ—Head and Body, the King of Glory.
