THE RELIEF OF KIMBERLY

You see as this was 'ow it was: Lord Roberts, 'e came on, With fifty thousand men or so, 'E marched from early dawn; But when 'e got to Kimberly 'E found the foe 'ad gone.

Said Trooper French to Cecil Rhodes: "Lord Cecil, put 'er 'ere, And take your life preserver off, 'You've nawn'tin' now to fear— 'We've sixty cannon coming up, And wagon loads of beer."

"We lost three thousand head of steers, Two hundred loads of pop; The Boers got all our marmalade And smashed our sausage shop; But, Cecil, we got in on time, With nary a ary stop."

"And don't stop here but hie you on," Said Rhodes, "without delay; Along the Modder river banks The Boers have trekked today; They've sent their big guns on ahead, While Cronje bars the way."

In truth it was a great retreat Those hardy farmers made; The patient ox teams toiled along With scarcely any shade— They had to make their 'laager' do In place of lemonade.

With sixty guns we pounded them With deadly yodite shells; The hail of lead we poured on them No tongue or pen can tell; We made that dried-up river bed A miniature of hell.

In spite of that they stood us off And gave us sundry swipes; And many a gallant redcoat fell Before their well-aimed 'snipes'— We captured several thousand men And forty thousand pipes.

"The blooming smoke is hard on eyes," Said Cronje, with a blink; "And gets into a fellow's throat," He added with a wink. "I've got the stuff for that," said "Bobs."

"Come in and 'ave a drink." And so we 'wiped Majuba out," And also Kopje Spion; We captured Cronje and his men, Hurrah for England's scion! Those Dutch republicans merely were A mouthful for the lion.

When Baby has the roup

When a mother is awakened from sound sleep to find her child who has gone to bed apparently in the best of health struggling for breath, she is naturally alarmed. Yet if she can keep her presence of mind and give Chamberlain's Cough Remedy every ten minutes until vomiting is produced, quick relief will follow and the child will drop to sleep to awaken in the morning as well as ever. This remedy has been in use for many years with uniform success. For sale by Safford Drug Co. adv-33-5t

Spiritual Branches in Church Must Undergo Pruning.

Much Worldliness Amongst Professed Christians Today—Falling Away From Early Faith—God's Special Providences Over His Faithful People. How Branches in the Heavenly Vine Are Pruned—Development of Fruit Gradual—Character More Important Than Many Works.

PASTOR RUSSELL

Des Moines, Ia., Oct. 24.—Pastor Russell delivered a highly instructive discourse here today on Malachi 3:14, 15. The Prophet's words, he declared, describe a condition which prevails to a considerable degree in our day. A few generations ago Christian people were very earnest, very devoted to the Lord, so far as we can judge from their words. God's name was taken very reverently; songs of praise were often sung; much was done in the way of Bible study. Then came a time of increased prosperity amongst the worldy. Those who did not reverence God got along better than did the more reverent. They may beget to say, "What profit is it that we serve God?" As a consequence, as with the Jews in Malachi's day, there is now a great tendency to worldliness, and little attention is paid to religion, which is only of a formal kind. "Attend more to business, to the lodge or to society," people say; "and you will get along much better." This condition is general; and so, except amongst a certain class, there is less piety today. "Those who serve God are being separated from all denominations. It has some encouragement for such, giving them to see heights, depths, lengths and breadths of His love never before seen. These are not being blessed necessarily in outward things. Perhaps as a whole they have less than have the average persons of the world. It would not be well for them to have too many of the good things of this present life. Indeed, God has greatly favored some of them by removing their earthly prosperity and giving them greater knowledge of His Word. The True Vine and its Pruning. The Pastor then discussed God's peculiar dealings with the Church of Christ. Comparing Himself to a vine and His followers to the branches, our Lord declared, "Every branch in Me that beareth fruit, the Father pruneth it, that it may bring forth more fruit." (John 15:1-6) It is the tendency of a grape vine to spread in all directions and to spend its strength in producing branches rather than grapes. Therefore whenever the vine dresser wishes to produce better and more abundant fruit, he cuts off much of the branch and thus forces the sap into the grapes. So the Heavenly Father prunes the branches of the True Vine, that they may bring forth much fruit. Those branches that bear no fruit buds are illustrative of those professed Christians that never produce the fruits of the Spirit of Christ. True Christians will not think it strange nor be offended when the Lord prunes off the tendencies to go out after worldly things. The tendrils of our affections have a great tendency to cling to earthly objects—family, home, business, etc. Any of these things is liable to take energy and affection from the one important subject.

A sharp distinction should be made between the Church and the world. God is not the Father of unrepentant sinners. Having discarded Adam and his posterity during the reign of Sin, He has adopted a new family, which began with our Lord Jesus, when He was in the flesh, and which includes all the members of the New Creation. Beyond a general supervision the Lord is not dealing with the world now, but will do so during the next Age. Now He deals especially with the elect, sons of God.—1 John 3:2; John 1:12. These sons of God have received His spirit, the Spirit of Christ. (Romans 8:9.) All who have been begotten of the Holy Spirit should bear the fruits thereof—meekness, gentleness, patience, brotherly kindness, love. (Galatians 5:22, 23; 2 Peter 1:3-11.) Throughout the Gospel Age this class have borne fruit.

Character Superior to Works. These fruits of the Spirit are more than outward activities in the Lord's vineyard. God is more desirous to see how meek and loving His children are than to note even great deeds of service. Acceptable service for Him depends very much upon our development of His Holy Spirit. It is not so much the work as the humility and the loving zeal that counts. One might be sleek and unable to engage in active service; but if he has the spirit of meekness and the proper desire to serve the Lord, the Father looks at that spirit or intention. The fruits of the Spirit manifest themselves in a daily endeavor to do God's will in all things. At first one might have the activity without the proper spirit. We must cultivate the Lord's way and spirit, which is Love. When the heart becomes imbued with love, the spirit of the Truth, one forgets self and wishes only to honor the Lord.
