THE HOUSE AND THE SENATE.

Washington, July 23.—The postoffice appropriation shorn of the good roads provision proposed by the house and embracing a revised parcels post system with charges based on zones of distance was reported to the senate today by the postoffice committee. The total appropriations proposed by the bill are above those of the house measure, which carried approximately $260,000,000. One of the principal increases is in the pay of the railroads for transporting mails, the senate committee adding more than $2,500,000. In striking out the Shackleford good roads feature of the house bill, which provided for federal improvement of highways, the senate committee recommends an investigation by a special commission of three house members and three senators and provides for no highway improvement until this commission has reported.

The above news dispatch unconsciously portrays the striking difference between the Republican party as the party of privilege, and the Democratic party as the party of the people. The postoffice appropriation bill, as passed by the Democratic house, was taken up by the Republican committee in the senate and "shorn of the good roads provision," but the total appropriations proposed by the committee are above those of the house measure, one of the principal increases being in the pay of railroads for transporting mails, the senate committee adding for this item more than two and a half million dollars. Instead of granting government aid for the construction of post roads, the committee recommends "an investigation by a commission"—in other words, the creation of several fat jobs for Republicans to hold, which virtually means that the United States will do nothing toward good roads until the Democrats are placed in full power.

Investigations by commissions is a favorite dodge of the administration to avoid the passage of progressive legislation demanded by the people. It has been successfully used in the tariff question ever since the people began to demand the repeal of the Payne-Aldrich tariff deal. Of course, the tariff commission furnishes a large number of handsome salaries for "lame ducks" and it also furnishes the president an excuse for vetoing such moderate reductions in tariff as a Democratic house is able to force through a Republican senate, but aside from this, if there have been any practical results from the commission they have never been announced.

It is hardly to be supposed that the railroads would have refused to carry the mails for the compensation provided for them by the house, yet the Republican majority on the senate committee evidently felt that the poor railroads needed the money and quietly proceeded to present them with a paltry two and a half million dollar bonus.

But it was entirely contrary to Republican principles to have permitted such a sum as this to be expended in improving roads. At least not until several years had been spent in investigating the matter by a commission.

MORE ABOUT RUSSELLISM.

In a recent issue of the Log Cabin Democrat it was pointed out that the International Bible Students' Association, which is obtaining so much notoriety through the promulgation of the "no-hell" doctrine, is a subsidiary organization of the "Pastor Russell" syndicate of Brooklyn. A clipping republished in the Baptist Advance of this week gives further light on the tenets of Pastor Russell and will doubtless be read with interest:

"The Millennial Dawnists recently held a convention at Pertle Springs, Mo. For eighty days they discussed topics of interest to them. Doctor Moore, pastor of the Christian church in Warrensburg, attended some of the meetings. In the Christian Evangelist he sets forth some things which he heard. He thinks Pastor Russell is getting ready to proclaim himself as the Christ, and that the proclamation will be made in 1914.

"For the benefit of our readers we present here Doctor Moore's summing up of some of the teachings of Pastor Russell and his followers. Among Mr. Russell's tenets, I mention these:

"1. Christ before coming into the world was not divine.

"2. When on earth he was still not divine; a perfect man, but only a man.

"3. His atonement was that of a mere man.

"4. Christ's body was not raised from the dead. The soul of Jesus died and the soul of Jesus was raised.

"5. Christ's second advent occurred in 1874.

"6. The saints were raised up and the professing Christian church was rejected in 1878.

"7. Christ will take his throne on earth, and the Millennium begin in October, 1914.

"8. The saints, the true Israel, the elect (Russellites) will sit on the throne with him.

"9. The Gentiles (all but the Russellites) will be destroyed, but will be raised up, and given a second chance, under more favorable conditions. Using this second chance, they will be saved, but can never occupy the exalted position of the true Israel (Russellites). Those not using this second chance, but remaining impenitent, will be destroyed (annihilated).

"10. It is folly to try to save the world in this age. That is not God's plan, and it cannot be done. All evangelistic and missionary efforts are a waste of time and money.

"11. All that can be accomplished during this age is to gather the elect from the various churches. These will be comparatively few, for did not Christ say, 'Fear not, little flock; for it is your Father's good pleasure to give you the kingdom?'

"So-called 'Bible classes' are being organized in every community, where a few of the faithful can be gotten together. But the Bible can only be understood by means of Mr. Russell's book, 'The Divine Plan of the Ages,' and so colporteurs are going through the country selling this and other of Mr. Russell's books, and giving away tracts.

"One day the question was asked Mr. Russell: 'Do you think it best that you should be elected pastor of the various classes indefinitely?' His answer was: 'If you want to give me a complimentary vote, it is all right, but I am the pastor of all the classes, and for all time.'

"One day he made a call for mothers to bring their children to him that he might put his hands on their heads and bless them, as Christ did. Fifty were brought.

"Many of the rank and file, I am told, believe that Pastor Russell is Christ incarnate since 1874. I regard Russellism as one of the most dangerous heresies before the public today."

SUMMER HEAT AND CHILDREN

A series of extremely interesting observations have been made by Schiesinger of Vienna on the effects of summer heat on infants and older children in some of the various districts of Germany, more particularly in Strasburg. The abnormally high mortality among infants during an extraordinarily hot summer occasioned the study.

On comparison of various districts, all having the same climatic conditions, the milk supply and general care of infants being also practically identical, it was found that in one district the houses were tightly packed, with but little open space. In such places the air does not cool off at night during the summer, the temperature in one place remaining practically constantly above 30 C.

A study of the effects of heat on 260 school children, between the ages of 6 and 10, was made, and it was found that 30 per cent lost appreciably in weight from May to August; in 5 per cent this loss was extreme. The cause of this was the heat stagnation during an extremely hot season, the children being confined in warm school rooms, with a high humidity over long periods during the day. In these children the effects were restlessness, lassitude, headache, nose-bleed and similar symptoms. With shorter hours, and a vacation extending over seven weeks, the heat remaining the same, all the children regained their previous weight and most of them added to their former weight.

The treatment and care of infants during the summer should not be confined to the ordinary treatment of definite diseases, but should be directed especially toward offsetting the effects of the heat, says The Journal of the American Medical Association. Less food should be given than in cool weather; plenty of water, however, is desirable. Children should wear little and loose clothing, and frequent cool and tepid baths should be given. Heat stagnation should be avoided so far as possible.

BRYAN PRAISES M'COMBS.

In an editorial in the Commoner of this week, William J. Bryan says of the Arkansas who has been selected to lead the Democracy to victory this year:

"William F. McCombs is a strong man and he will make an excellent chairman of the Democratic national committee. The selection of Joseph E. Daavies of Wisconsin as secretary was also a wise one. These two gentlemen will bring new life and courage into Democratic campaign work. They may be depended upon not to make any alliances during the campaign that would embarrass Governor Wilson after he has assumed the duties of his office.

"The duties of the officers of the national committee are of the highest importance and genuine ability on the part of these officials is essential to the faithful discharge of those duties. The Democratic party is entitled to congratulations upon the high character of its new chairman and secretary."

Protesting against alleged extortionate rates charged for water, a correspondent in the Russellville Courier-Democrat writes eloquently of what "our forefathers did at Lexington, Concord and Bunker Hill." But according to the best authorities, our forefathers of those days only used water for rain.

Less than $5 for each person between the ages of 6 and 21 was expended for public school education in Faulkner county during the past year. School tax looks high when collection times come 'round, but figured as tuition it looks cheap.

Democrats of Conway should organize a Wilson-Marshall club. Such organizations are being formed throughout the country and our city should not be without one.

RAILROADS ARE ASSESSED.

Little Rock, July 25.—The State Tax Commission is at work on the annual assessment of railroads. The 50 per cent basis is being adhered to as nearly as possible, and it is expected there will be a considerable increase in the aggregate over last year. The assessments will not be announced for several weeks yet.

JULY TERM OF COURT ADJOURNS

RAILWAY CASE MISTRIAL

JURY FAILS TO AGREE IN SUIT OF MRS. HENDRICKSON FOR DAMAGES.

From Thursday's Daily.

The July term of the Faulkner circuit court was adjourned late yesterday afternoon, after the jury in the final case tried at the term had reported their inability to agree and were discharged. The suit was that of Mrs. Georgia Hendrickson, administratrix against the St. Louis, Iron Mountain and Southern Railway Co., in which the plaintiff sought to recover damages for the injury and subsequent death of her father, John R. Saunders. According to the plaintiff's contention, Mr. Saunders was injured by falling over a "speeder" on the depot platform, while on his way to the station on business, the injury causing paralysis and ending in death after several months of suffering. The railroad company denied that they were negligent in permitting the "speeder" to remain on the platform and also denied that the injury was the direct cause of Mr. Saunders' illness and death. It is reported the jury stood 8 to 4 in favor of the defendant, but after they had deliberated nearly an hour they informed the court that they could not agree and were discharged.

The disabilities of Leo Allen as a minor were removed by the court yesterday afternoon.

The case of Robert Johnson, charged with selling liquor, was transferred to the court of Justice of the Peace W. B. Wilson.

Joe Patton, the negro boy who was accused of taking $25 in money which was accidentally lost by Ben Gray, was allowed to enter a plea of guilty to the charge of petit larceny, and was fined $10 and sentenced to one hour in jail. Patton was indicted for grand larceny by the grand jury Monday.

Orders of continuance were made in several cases not reached and appeals granted in several which had been tried before the court adjourned.

Judge H. N. Hutton, who presided at the term, won many friends and admirers during his stay here. He left last night for his home at Marianna.

FAIR CATALOGUES IN BIG DEMAND

From Thursday's Daily.

Manager J. A. King of the Faulkner county fair is being kept busy filling applications for the fourth annual fair catalogue and premium list, which was completed this week. Hundreds of copies are being placed in the hands of farmers of Faulkner and adjoining counties every day. The catalogues may be obtained free from the manager, at either bank or at the Log Cabin Democrat office.

The premium list, while practically the same in form as that of previous years, has been revised and contains a much more complete and attractive list of prizes than ever before. The premiums have been increased in a great many instances and are especially liberal in the farm products, livestock, poultry and boys' corn club departments.

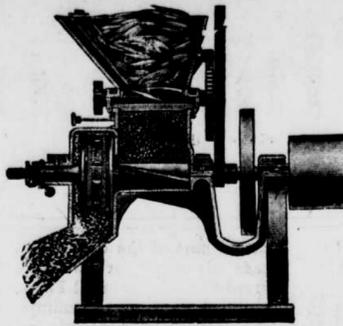

Manager King will go to Wooster Saturday to work in the interest of the fair at the big picnic and educational rally to be held at that place.

YOUNG MEN FORM LAWN TENNIS CLUB

From Thursday's Daily.

A number of local tennis enthusiasts met yesterday afternoon and organized the Conway Lawn Tennis Club. S. W. Rogers being elected president and Jake T. Deal secretary and treasurer. BROWN PREACHES LIBERAL DOCTRINE

HIS IDEA OF PROGRESS

SECRETARY WOULD REPEAL MANY LAWS, BUT FAVORS LOCAL OPTION.

Little Rock, July 25.—"We do not want our country so hide-bound and so enveloped in red-tape that a man's lie is one of constant petty annoyance," is the declaration made by the Little Rock Board of Trade through its secretary, Geo. R. Brown. While not committing the organization to all of his extreme views, Mr. Brown probably voices the sentiment of a majority of the members in demanding more liberal laws.

He insists that "if Arkansas could be freed of her legal chains for half-a-dozen years, population and wealth would be doubled, and it would be the home of the happiest people in the world. Below are some of the things he would change in order to bring about this condition:

"Permit local option, not only as to the liquor question, but as to the thousand and one issues we have to meet.

"Make it known that all are welcome at church, but let those who do not care to go to church, take their families to the parks, to the baseball game, to the theater or any other harmless amusement on Sunday.

"Repeal the anti-trust law so the farmer may buy his machinery at home and not pay a dozen prices.

"Repeal the anti-futures law so the producer and the merchant may secure the full value of their cotton and not be at the mercy of the brokers of other states.

"Adopt a new constitution for the state.

"Abolish local improvement districts and let all who use the streets, sidewalks, sewers, etc., pay their part of the cost.

"Give the cities the right to issue bonds under the strictest safeguards."

These views were expressed by Secretary Brown in an address before the Socialist local of Little Rock in discussing "the Advancement of Arkansas."

PRAISE FOR "ECHO."

We are in receipt of the Normal Echo, put out by the Conway Printing Company, and find it a most creditable work of the printer's art. It is profusely illustrated and contains a number of good articles.—Morrilton Headlight.

OVER 500 CONVICTS WORK ON CONTRACTS

Little Rock, July 27.—The state penitentiary has the largest number of convicts at work on contract now that it has had in several years. There are over 500 working on the Reeves contract, white and colored, in half a dozen railroad camps, bringing in over $500 a day to the state. This leaves about 150 on the state farm.

G. O. P. ANNOUNCES A PUBLIC AUCTION

The following clipping from an exchange was handed the Log Cabin Democrat by a friend:

PUBLIC SALE

Our lease with Uncle Sam practically having expired, and having decided to retire to private life, we, the undersigned, will offer at public auction, at our residence,

NATIONAL CAPITAL,

Washington, D. C., at some time in November, 1912, the following described property:

1 White Elephant, 49 years old.
1 set of injunctions and 1 high-cost of living, old enough to wear, sired by Gold Bugs and damned by everybody.

1 Republican platform, good as new, only been used for campaign purposes. A large number of planks from the Democratic platform have got mixed in, but they are easily distinguished and will be retained.
1 Big Stick, very badly worn from over-use.
1 Financial System, supplied with Cleaning House certificates and a little hash.

A large quantity of old dinner pails, Grandpa's hats, Teddy bears, Taft smiles, wind-jammers and many other things too numerous to mention. There will also be disposed of at this time a lot of junk belonging to the Socialist party.
1 so-called Reciprocity Treaty. This sale will positively take place regardless of the weather, and everything must be cleaned up before 1913, as the Democrats will take entire charge of Uncle Sam's business.

TEDDY BEAR SOUP

AND GOLF MARMALADE will be served by the Democratic club. Everybody invited regardless of past political servitude.

This stuff must be cleared away. Cls. Rockefeller, Morgan and Vanderbilt, owners.

Joe Cannon, Auctioneer.
Theo. Roosevelt, Clerk.
J. P. Morgan, Cash Boy.
