

"Nature's Gift from the Sunny South"

Cottolene

For Every Kind of Best Pastry

Warmed into life by the sun shining on Southern Cotton Fields, nurtured by rain and dew, the Cotton plant concentrates in its seed the life-giving and life-sustaining quality which is the basis of Cottolene. From cotton field to kitchen, human hands never touch the oil from which Cottolene is made. It is a product of nature. Lard comes from the fat of the hog—often impure, most always indigestible. Cottolene, on the contrary, is made from vegetable oil, and jelly made from the juice of choicest fruit is not more pure or easily digested than this product of the oil extracted from the kernel of the Cotton seed.

COTTOLENE is Guaranteed Your grocer is hereby authorized to refund your money in case you are not pleased, after having given Cottolene a fair test.

Never Sold in Bulk Cottolene is packed in pails with an air-tight top, to keep it clean, fresh and wholesome, and prevent it from catching dust and absorbing disagreeable odors, such as fish, oil, etc.

WARDE AT THE GRAND TOMORROW

SUPPORTED BY A STRONG COMPANY THE GREAT ACTOR WILL PRESENT THE GREATEST OF SHAKESPEARE'S PLAYS—JULIUS CAESAR.

Anyone who thinks that Shakespeare cannot be made into interesting and amusing entertainment will change their opinion on Saturday, April 29, when the illustrious tragedian and Shakespearean scholar, Mr. Frederick Warde, presents his latest revival of the popular tragedy, "Julius Caesar," at the Grand Opera House.

Mr. Ward has spent a great deal of time and study on the play and has made his own adaptation. He is a man of progressive spirit and realizes that the present day public demand handsome scenic productions. Report has it that he has more than fulfilled the public expectation in that respect. Furthermore, he brings with him a company of players who know how to read Shakespeare, and can be understood and heard. The engagement of Frederick Warde is an event in the theatrical history of any city, and commands the attention of all lovers of the best in art, literature and the drama.

The sale commences here Friday, April 28, at 9 a. m. Prices, $1.50, $1.00, 75c, 50c. Curtain goes up at 8:45.

CLOCK KEEPS TAB ON THE NIGHT WATCHMAN

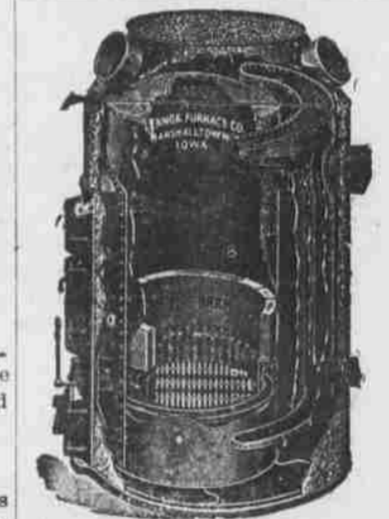

With the view of affording better protection to the state capital, a clock system is being installed by Secretary of State Olcott, and hereafter the night watchman will have to register every hour when making his rounds of the building.

The system consists of a series of keys and a clock, which is carried on the person of the night watchman. The keys are fastened in the walls in different portions of the building, and in making them the night watchman must register. When his rounds are through in the morning his rounds and the times at which they were made can be checked up by the clock.

Charles Holstrom is the night watchman.

IT IS A PLAY THAT NEVER GROWS OLD

"THE OLD HOMESTEAD"—ONE OF THE MOST BEAUTIFUL OF ALL MODERN PLAYS—DENMAN THOMPSON TELLS HOW IT WAS CREATED.

"The Old Homestead" is a play that never grows old. "I don't know," said Denman Thompson, "but some people think I have stuck to Joshua Whitcomb too long. I don't think so. At first it was a sketch, not more than 25 minutes long, and presented the street scene in Boston in which Uncle Joshua had a number of excitable and laughable adventures, and the birthday party in which he made the liveliest sort of merriment by his homely talk. I did my best to give an accurate imitation of two actual personages in Swanzy, whom I had known and seen every day in my childhood—they are both dead now. In the summer of 1875," continued Mr. Thompson, "when I was giving my sketch at the Coliseum in Chicago, I met J. M. Hill, who was a New Hampshire man, and a very shrewd one, and by his advice "The Old Homestead" was developed into its present proportions. To be sure some interpolations had been made, but it has always remained a homely but true picture of farm life to illustrate the best there is in human nature, to awaken the memories and to stir the emotions of men and women who have come from a farm, and to teach a wholesome lesson to the young."

"The Old Homestead" in its entirety was presented to the public for the first time at the Boston theatre in April, 1886, but for years previous the public was familiar with Uncle Joshua, which had its first presentation at Harry Martin's Varieties, Pittsburg, in February, 1876. In September, 1876, Joshua Whitcomb was introduced to the New York public at the Lyceum theatre and proved a tremendous success. Uncle Joshua was always a welcome guest in Boston and the receipts of the first week in "The Old Homestead" at the Boston theatre were $11,279.25. Several minor characters like Ed. Ganzey, ("Whistling Ed") and the Hoboken tough, which has since fitted so excellently with the spirit and scheme of the play were not in the original production.

WHAT IT DOING AT WILLAMETTE

The law college of Willamette university, represented by O'Conner, Mott and Wilson, will meet a team from the law college of the University of Oregon in a debate on the subject of single tax tonight in the university chapel. Last year a team from the local college went down to Portland and defeated the Oregon team by a score of 3 to 0, and the three representing Willamette this year are all strong, impressive speakers, and should repeat the victory of last year. The fact that two of the speakers who won at the try-out have, on account of unpreventable circumstances, been unable to carry on the debate, has compelled Earle Mott and Frank O'Conner to come to the front a little late, and it has been rather hard for them to prepare as they should. The chapel should be crowded tonight.

Track Meet.

The track team is working hard to get into condition, in order to meet Pacific University on the Willamette field Monday afternoon. The local team is not very strong, and the odds are in favor of Pacific, but there are several events in which the local lads will show more than usual class. Blackwell, in the broad jump and shot put, ought to get first place, while Cummings should pull down the honors in the 50 and 100-yard dashes. Rowland should make a strong try for the half mile. Mills and Rader are both strong in the high jump, and one or two others will get first place.

NOTED BIBLE STUDENT WILL DELIVER ADDRESS

Will Appear Under Auspices of International Bible Student's Association at Commercial Hall Next Monday Evening—No Admission or Collection.

A free Bible lecture will be given by Jas. H. Cole, of New York, at Commercial hall Monday night.

Judging from the many comments this speaker has received, through the press, both in Canada as well as in the United States, the lecture will be well worth hearing.

The speaker is traveling under the auspices of the International Bible Student's Association. The object of this association is to stimulate Bible study by aiding Christians of any and every denomination to a better and deeper understanding of God's word.

The claim is that if the people could only see the reasonableness of the Bible's teaching, such doctrines as "evolution," "higher evolution," etc., would find no advocates.

That also many honest skeptics and infidels who have discarded the sacred writings would be reclaimed, for that with which they have found fault is not the Bible, as they have supposed, but, instead, some false theories advanced by man and termed in the scriptures "doctrines of the devils."

The association has some 50 speakers constantly traveling and lecturing before the classes and the public.

They traveled last year more than half a million miles; visited over 3500 cities, and held upwards of 11,000 meetings.

The association also puts into circulation an enormous quantity of free literature in defense of the Bible study and knowledge thereof. Last year in the English language this amounted to more than 350,000,000 pages, and in foreign languages it circulated in this country more than 6,000,000 pages. These almost inconceivable totals bewilder the average mind.

The coming lecturer has filled some of the largest auditoriums in the country, and those failing to hear him will miss a rare treat.

Those who do have the pleasure of hearing him will also be caused to think, for unlike many, this Bible scholar invites you to use your keen reasoning powers.

This speaker represents the Inter-denominational organization, which furnishes a sermon each week that is published in The Capital Journal and which is read by millions of people in the United States and Canada, and is today the greatest pulpit influence
