Summer Poultry Suggestions

A coat of whitewash properly prepared and applied to poultry houses aids in reducing disease germs and mites.

The excellent prices being paid for hens should warrant a very close culling of overfat hens and those inclined to be broody. Overfat hens, as a rule, are poor layers and often succumb to the summer heat.

All cockerels that are not to be used as breeders should be marketed as soon as they weigh about two pounds. Broiler prices will be no higher this season than they are now. A two-pound bird will sell for as much now as a four-pound bird two months later.

Encourage mature chickens to range by feeding them sparingly. A good summer ration for hens suggested by the College of Agriculture consist of 1 part wheat, 1 part oats, and 1 part corn, by weight. More eggs are obtained where the birds are fed a little grain than when forced to depend upon "pickings" about the farm.

Fight the Red Mite

Every poultry keeper must fight mites. They are carried by sparrows and in various ways.

Mites thrive in unclean houses—in the nests, on the floor, and in cracks and crevices about the roosts.

Mites are first noticed in early summer hiding under and about the perches. When allowed to multiply they spread to all parts of the house.

They attack the bird at night and live by sapping its blood.

They may kill little chickens and effectively reduce egg production.

The College of Agriculture says to be on your guard, and when you first notice the mites clean the house thoroughly and spray the nests, dropping-boards, walls, and perches with kerosene. As a precaution, whitewash the entire house.

1 cup fish, 1 cup stale bread crumbs, 1 1/2 cups milk, 2 tablespoonfuls butter, salt, paprika, 3 egg whites beaten stiff.

Remove bones and skin of fish; mash fine or force thru a puree strainer. There should be one cup of the fish when prepared. Cook bread crumbs in milk for five minutes. Add fish, butter, salt, paprika. Fold in the egg whites and pour into individual molds. Set the molds in a pan of hot water and bake in moderate oven until firm. Serve with white sauce.—Department of Home Economics, College of Agriculture.

Whitewash Mixture

For general use about the farm building to assist in destroying insects, the following recipe for whitewash is offered by the College of Agriculture: Slake 5 quarts of lime with hot water to about the consistency of cream. To this add 1 pint of zenoleum or some other coal tar product, and one quart of kerosene. Dilute with about its volume of water; apply with a brush or a pump. This solution when properly applied accomplishes three things: (1) Zenoleum acts as a disinfectant by killing disease germs; (2) the kerosene aids in destroying mites; and (3) the lime whitens the house.

Care of Hog Pasture

For "growing out" little pigs and carrying over dry sows, a good pasture is a valuable asset to the Nebraska hog raiser. Alfalfa makes the best pasture for hogs. In pasturing alfalfa, care should be taken that it is not pastured too heavily. If this is done, the alfalfa will be badly killed out in two or three years and it will be necessary to reseed. Pasturing should never be carried on so heavily but that one-half ton of hay per acre can be cut three times a season. The occasional cutting of the alfalfa induces new shoots to grow, and hence greatly improves the pasture for the pigs.

Cherry Ulcers

Do not remove stems from cherries used for pickling. Wash the cherries and pack tightly into sterile jars. Pour the following mixture over one quart of cherries: 1 tablespoonful salt, 1 cup vinegar.

Fill the remaining space in the jar with cold water. Place on rubber cover and seal. Jars with glass covers are best to use with vinegar, since they will not corrode.

REASONING ABOUT SCARLET SINS

Most Religious Teachings Are Unreasonable.

Pastor Russell Says Turning From the Creeds to the Bible Means a Return to Reasoning—A Refusal of Human Impositions—Greater and Lesser Sins. Punishments Proportionate—The Sins Which God Styles Scarlet, Men Often Consider Merely White Lies—The Scarlet Sins Theology Condemns Often Less Important With God.

PASTOR RUSSELL

Richmond, Va., April 6.—Bible students of all denominations were deeply interested in Pastor Russell's visit today. A series of special Bible lectures has been in progress for some months and Pastor Russell has been brought here, evidently for climacteric results. We report his discourse from the text, "Come now, let us reason together, saith the Lord; though your sin be as scarlet, they shall be as white as snow."—Isaiah 1:18.

Although thoroughly joynt and very reverential, the Pastor has evidently cut loose from the creeds. He admitted that all contain kernels of Truth, but declared that these are buried in a mass of chaff—hidden in God-dishonoring theologies so unreasonable that their best friends prefer never to think of them.

The Pastor claimed that the repetitiveness of the creeds hinders people from looking for the truth which they contain. This is well, he said. Why should we search for Truth in various creeds when we have the Bible? He urged Christians to abandon the creeds and unite as Bible students, intent on knowing the testimony of God's Word and of obtaining the guidance of the Holy Spirit in the understanding of it.

Jesus held up to scorn the inconsistencies of His day. If here today, He would show us many inconsistencies in our estimation of sin and righteousness, the Pastor believed. Our Lord declared that while the religious leaders of His time were careful to tithe all their increase, they outraged the very spirit of God's Law of righteousness; that in mean ways, they took the bread from the poor, and to divert attention from their course they hypocritically lengthened their prayers.

It was not that praying was wrong, or that tithing was objectionable, but their recognition of these showed them all the more responsible in "devouring widows' houses," and other sharp practices, whereby they took advantage of the unfortunate. This principle still operates, said Pastor Russell.

Today, as in our Master's time, there is a way of keeping within the law and at the same time the spirit of the law is outraged and trampled in the dust of avaricious money-getting. Now, as then, money-lovers pose as philanthropists, and hold honorable places in churchly ranks. The Pastor spared not this class. He declared that religious hypocrites are the worst of sinners in God's sight. Theirs were the most scarlet sins, he believed.

Greater and Lesser Sins.

Wealth covers a multitude of sins. To be financially unsuccessful is a crime, on account of which many consider a wife justified in seeking a divorce, and some churches justified in dropping the culprit from their membership list. What matters it that Jesus comforted the weary, heavy-laden and unsuccessful? What matters it that the Scriptures declare that not many rich, wise, great or learned has God called to the Heavenly inheritance, but chiefly the poor of this world, rich in faith?

What matters it that a very rich man has two concubines, besides a wife? What matters it that his religious instructors know of the fact? He is a supporter of their church! Were he poor, this crime against human and Divine Law would be unforgivable. He would be assured that he would suffer torment throughout eternity!

Sins Scarlet and Crimson.

Our text discriminates between scarlet and crimson, as indicating shades of guilt in the same kind of sin. For instance, murder would be a scarlet sin, if committed by a worldly person; but hatred would be crimson—a sin of deeper dye—if cherished by a Christian. As love is the fulfilling of the Divine Law, so hatred implies its flagrant violation.

Mankind have inherited sin-stained blood from Adam. Selfishness of varying hues stains every member of the race. Many have not the proper focus upon the Divine Law. Taking the letter of that Law, they avoid the cruder forms of theft, adultery, murder—making the same mistake that Israel made.

According to Jesus' interpretation of the Law, theft could be committed in the heart by coveting, by stealing the business or reputation of another. Similarly, adultery might be committed without overt act; and hatred is murder.

Increase of knowledge has brought increased responsibility. But human selfishness has kept pace. The thievish spirit abounds. The civilized world should awaken its conscience to the Golden Rule—the Law of Messiah's coming Kingdom.
