

Tuscaloosa, Ala., July 25. In order to give practical information to farmers of the South as to the benefits to be secured by the use of lime both for increasing yields and for improving the soil, the Southern Railway and the Alabama Great Southern R.R. through their Cotton Culture Department, are making experiments along their lines in Alabama with corn, cotton, peanuts, and other farm products. The lime used analyzed 70 per cent and was secured from Marengo, Green, and Sumter counties where millions of tons lie along the Warrior and Tombigbee rivers. The lime was applied in the spring and has resulted in the promise of increased yields, though it is too early to know what the benefit to the soil will be.

Lime has been used for improving the soil for many centuries and authorities agree that a great part of the land under culture in the Southeast is deficient in respect, resulting in an excess of acidity when vegetable matter decays. The use of lime preserves the vegetable matter in the condition most suitable for the support of plant life. It is not intended that lime should be used as a substitute for manure or commercial fertilizers but that by its use a much greater percentage of the plant food in the manure or fertilizer may be retained in the soil.

As soon as possible the results of the experiments being made by the Southern Railway and the Alabama Great Southern will be given to the farmers of the South.

Mrs. Milton Redus of West Point who has been visiting in the home of G. D. Hartness returned Monday morning, accompanied by one of Mr. Hartness' little daughters.

Come to Oktibbeha.

If you have an idea of changing your location for that portion of God's own country, where the sweetest and truest women on earth, dwell in peace and plenty, where grows the whitest cotton on the greenest bushes, where are plucked the reddest and juiciest watermelons in the land, where the gentle breezes gracefully bend the tallest pines, through the purest atmosphere, where the grandest oaks make the coolest shade, and where the biggest hearted and most democratic people on earth will give you the glad hand and a genuine old time welcome, just pack that old grip, call Annie and the children, and come to Okibbeha county, and we will extend to you the right hand of welcome.

A CHARMING WOMAN.

is one who is lovely in face, form, mind and temper. But its hard for a woman to be charming without health. A weak, sickly woman will be nervous and irritable. Constipations and kidney poisons show in pimples, blotches, skin eruptions and a wretched complexion. But Electric Bitters always prove a godsend to women who want health, beauty and friends.

They regulate stomach, liver and kidneys, purify the blood; give strong nerves, bright eyes, pure breath, smooth, velvety skin, lovely complexion and perfect health. Try them. 50¢ at all druggists.

THE HOLY NAME.

Pastor Russell Declares That Millions of Christians Unwittingly Profane the Creator In Misrepresenting What His Holy Name Represents.

SUGGESTIONS WORTHY OF CONSIDERATION.

Denver, Colo., June 18.—Pastor Russell gave two public addresses here today, one of which we report. Many of Denver's prominent religious people were conspicuous in the large audience. Profound impressions were undoubtedly made. Speaking from the text, "Holy, holy, holy, Lord God Almighty; the whole earth shall be filled with thy glory" (Revelation iv, 8), the speaker said:—

Three General Views.

There may be said to be three different theories prevalent in Christendom on the subject. All three of these views declare that the Almighty, with full power to have done otherwise, so created humanity that a child once born into the world can never die—must live somewhere unceasingly—either in pain or in pleasure. By what authority any make these declarations we have never ascertained.

Our Catholic friends tell us that by Divine arrangement, terrible puratorial experiences await practically every member of our race, in the hope that, if rightly exercised thereby, after centuries of torture, an eternity of bliss will be gained. Is not this also a blasphemy against the Holy Name? Who could deny it? Surely such a theory is blasphemous, horrible.

Worse and Worse—Predestinated. Is it any wonder that, in early life our childish hearts were filled with fear rather than with love toward our Creator and toward His Revelation, the Bible? Is it any wonder that it required all kinds of fighting with our common sense to believe, as we were taught we should, that God lovingly predestinated that all human families should suffer eternally except a saintly handful—because He was pleased to have it so—because He foreordained that it must be so—because He had made a great place called hell before He made the earth, and made it large enough to hold the entire human family—because He created fire-proof demons to inflict tortures upon the poor unfortunates who were shapen in iniquity, in sin conceived by their mothers.

Still Another Blasphemy. A considerable proportion of thinking Christian people will join with us in saying, Ah, surely Brother Calvin grievously erred and grievously misrepresented the God of love when he taught the doctrine of the predestination of the wicked to eternal torture! Ah! say these Christian friends, our hearts rebel against that theory of Divine predestination. We claim that the Almighty is Love itself—that He is sympathetic with His creatures, and is using every effort to avert the great calamity of eternal torture for the great majority of the race.

Ah! my friends, is not this still another form of blasphemy? If some of us blasphemed the Holy Name in representing our Heavenly Father as merciless, loveless, have we not in another way blasphemed that same Holy Name in declaring that He lacks the power and the wisdom to do the good which His loving heart would prompt?

We worship a stupid and impotent God, one who blundered in the creation of our race, and who, for six thousand years, has been striving to rectify that error and all the while has been allowing thousands of millions of His creatures whom he loves to go down to an eternity of torture? Alas!

It would be nearly as easy to worship an all-powerful and loveless God as to worship an all-loving but unwise and impotent God who foolishly, sinfully, brought thousands of millions of intelligent beings into existence only to suffer an eternity or agony through His incompetence.

"Holy, Holy, Holy, Lord God."

We come now to our text. It declares that the time is coming when the whole earth shall be full of God's glory. Ah! glorious day! Then the shadows of ignorance, superstition, misunderstanding and misrepresentation in respect to the Divine character will all flee before the light of the knowledge of the glory of God—the appreciation of the Divine character as manifested in the Divine Plan for human salvation. Could this Scripture ever be fulfilled, could the Divine character ever be appreciated by intelligent, honest, just and loving hearts, if in any corner of the Universe there were such orgies and tortures of His creatures as the creeds of the Darker Ages have set forth? Surely not! On the contrary, in this glorious Day will be fulfilled the Scriptural prediction, "all in heaven and in earth and under the earth [everywhere] heard I saying, praise, glory, honor, dominion and might be unto Him that sitteth on the throne, and unto the Lamb forever!"

Health In Rural Schools.

The extension of medical inspection and measures for the prevention of disease in rural schools is much to be desired. Country children sometimes live a considerable distance from any physician or dentist, and are particularly liable to suffer from neglect of adenoids, enlarged tonsils, defective teeth, etc. Both the state and the general government have spent large sums of money on the prevention of diseases among cattle and hogs. Practically nothing has been done by either for the prevention of disease or the removal of defects among country children. Two hundred thousand babies die preventable deaths every year in the United States, yet it is now easier for a Mississippi mother to get instruction in the diseases of baby chicks than in the ailment of human babies.
