

BOQUETS FOR WINDOW TRIMMER

R. B. Thompson, of the Balle-Brodersen Co., Recognized as Expert Window Trimmer.

GETS MENTION IN REPORTER

Reproduction of the Beautiful Balle-Brodersen Christmas Windows Also Appear in That Paper

The Dry Goods Reporter, a magazine published at Chicago, in their issue of April 20th, gave the Balle-Brodersen company of this city a complete writeup of their tasty window display, using several cuts of the large window displays. This speaks highly for this concern and is also a fitting recognition of the work of R. B. Thompson, who does the trimming for the Balle-Brodersen company. Below is the article which appeared in the Dry Goods Reporter:

The large cities are not the only ones that have good show windows and good window trimming. This is very apparent when we look at the photographs of windows shown herewith, and the photograph of the Balle-Brodersen Co. store.

This store is in a town of less than 5,000 inhabitants, and we all must admit that the Christmas window shown on this page would be a credit to any store, even in the largest cities of the country.

Mr. R. B. Thompson, the window trimmer that does this very meritorious work, is only twenty-nine years old. He is very much of an artist as will be readily recognized when you examine the cut-out work in the Christmas window, the scenic painting in the fall opening window and the fall opening show card.

Mr. Thompson's work shows the results that can be obtained by conscientious study of everything pertaining to window work. His experience has been thoroughly rounded out by graduating from the window-trimming school here in Chicago, and he keeps continually posted by taking the Window Trimming Section of the Dry Goods Reporter.

Mr. Thompson describes the Christmas window as follows: "The decoration was done in green and white throughout. The background and columns were covered in white felt, while the silhouette design was cut out of green felt and pasted on the back. Santa Claus and his reindeers were painted on the white felt.

"The icicles were made of cotton, dipped in a thin solution of gelatin. The tops of the columns were finished off with garlands of braided evergreen. Crushed mica was generously used throughout the entire trim to give the sparkle of snow."

The Fall opening window is interesting because of the large scenic painting made by Mr. Thompson, and used to give an out-of-doors atmosphere to the window. This painting is 10x12 feet in size, and was painted in the workroom and thus was ready to put in the window as soon as the change in windows was made.

In fact, all the columns, garden seats, etc., were made in the workroom before any work was done in the window.

The color scheme for this window was gold and white. All columns, seats, etc., were covered with white felt. The painting was in soft autumn shades, high lighted with deep golden autumn colors.

A generous quantity of artificial autumn and grape foliage was used throughout the entire background. Cobwebs made from strands of natural colored silk was drawn through the autumn foliage.

The show card used in this window is reproduced in larger size at the bottom of this page. It was painted in water colors in autumn tints, the letters being done in gold. The card was cut out, and was particularly well done.

A look at the Balle-Brodersen store will show you a thoroughly up-to-date store building. There are five large show windows, with low base and permanently enclosed. Prisms are used to daylight the store. There are exactly 75 feet of show windows to trim, and as the store handles everything except furniture and implements, Mr. Thompson has an opportunity to handle a great variety of merchandise.

The store is half a block square in size, and is run on the same principle as the large department stores, having fifteen departments and employing about fifty people.

W. J. Scriver spent Thursday at Jefferson transacting business.

P. E. C. Lally was a business caller at Council Bluffs Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Locke, of Osceola, Neb., spent several days last week visiting at the W. R. Hill home in Denison. Mr. Locke made the Review office a pleasant call Thursday and secured a number of copies of the last issue to send to friends. Mr. Locke said that he liked the "ring" to the editorials that appear in the Review and was anxious to have some of his friends see the paper.

Judge and Mrs. J. P. Conner, of Denison, brought a party of friends over Monday evening for a late dinner at Burke's in honor of Mrs. Leslie M. Shaw. At the end of the automobile trip from Denison the company sat down to an elaborate course dinner. The party consisted of Judge and Mrs. J. P. Conner, Mrs. L. M. Shaw, Mrs. E. Gulick, Mrs. P. D. McMahon, Mrs. C. L. Voss, Mrs. F. H. Morgan, Miss Dudley and Raymond Conner. —Carroll Herald.

AN OLD BATTLEFIELD.

The softest whisperings of the scented south, And rust and roses in the cannon's mouth,

And where the thunders of the fight were born The wind's sweet tenor in the standing corn,

With songs of larks, low lingering in the loam, And low skies bending over love and home,

But still the thought: Some where, upon the hills Or where the vales ring with the whippoorwills,

Sad, wistful eyes and broken hearts that beat For the loved sound of returning feet,

And when the oaks their leafy banners wave, Dream of the battle and an unmarked grave! —Frank L. Stanton.

WILL PASS THROUGH DENISON

Denver Auto Run to Chicago to Pass Through Denison Soon—Will Reach Omaha Saturday.

The annual sociability automobile tour, under the direction of the Denver Chamber of Commerce, left Denver at noon Tuesday and will reach Omaha Saturday. The tourists will not strike Denison their way east, but will follow the River to River road out of Council Bluffs, visiting at Atlantic, Des Moines and Dubuque. The auto party will then cross Illinois and Indiana with Indianapolis as their objective point.

Chicago will be visited by the party on their return trip. The autoists will again enter Iowa at Clinton, striking the Iowa Transcontinental route, and reaching Marshalltown to spend the night. On the following day the tourists will reach Jefferson at noon, will visit Denison and other points along the line in the afternoon and will arrive at Council Bluffs the same day, June 2d. After leaving the Bluffs the party will visit points in Nebraska, Kansas and Colorado, reaching Denver the night of June 9th.

The officers of the Transcontinental route have issued a call for the annual meeting of the state association, which will be held at Ames June 13th. An effort will be made to enroll new members and to properly mark the route the entire length of the state. Preparations are being made for a big meeting, and W. C. Rollins, secretary, has extended an invitation to all road enthusiasts who desire to attend. Crawford county should send a big delegation to this meeting.

VICTORIOUS CHRIST HEADS PROCESSION

Leads Multitude of Captives From Death's Prison.

At Boston Pastor Russell Pictures the Release of Death's Prisoners and Shows From Scripture That in the Triumphal Procession Four Grades Will Participate.

PASTOR RUSSELL

Boston, Mass., May 19.—Pastor Russell spoke here today in the Boston Theatre. In one of his two discourses he used the following text: "When He ascended up on high, He led a multitude of captives." — Ephesians iv, 8.

This grand expression respecting the glorious outcome of the Savior's work is quoted by the Apostle Paul from the Psalms (lxviii, 18). The figure thus thrust before our mental eye is that of a great Conqueror whose victory is being heralded. With the Romans we know that it was a custom that generals returning from wars were granted what were termed "Triumphs"—or triumphal processions.

Let us permit our mental eye to feast upon the scene of our text. Jesus, fulfillment of the Divine Program, had left the heavenly condition and descended to earth, taking a bondman's form or nature in order "that He, by the grace of God, might taste death for every man;" that He might rescue Adam and his race from the death condition—under Divine sentence and under the power of Satan.

Therefore, the Redeemer counted not His life precious to Him, but freely delivered Himself up, and died, "the Just for the unjust," that He might bring mankind back into harmony with God. His humiliation ended in death, but His triumph began when God raised Him from the dead by His own power, and set Him at the right hand of His own Majesty—"far above angels, principalities and powers and every name that is named."

Leading Forth the Captives.

With most conquerors, in olden times, the captives were made slaves. Not so, however, will be the result of Jesus' victory. First of all in the procession are the saints—"the Church of the First-born." Then will come a company, more numerous, but less heroic—"a great multitude," uncrowned, but with "palm branches," not antitypical Priests, but antitypical Levites, associates and servants of the Royal Priesthood, the Bride.

Then will follow (Ephesians xi, 38-40) other faithful ones of the past, the Ancient Worthies. The Prophet speaks also of the "rebellious house." The classes previously specified were not rebellious, but gladly and willingly forsook all to do the will of the Father and to attain the liberty of sons of God, as the first-fruits of the triumph of the Lamb.

But during the thousand years of Christ's reign He will lead forth the "rebellious house"—the world of mankind—not all of them, we may be sure, for some, the Scriptures positively declare, will die the Second Death, because, after realizing their deliverance, they will love sin and will therefore be destroyed as enemies of God.

"He Gave Gifts Unto Men."

In this prophetic reference to our Lord's ascension it is declared, not only that He would lead forth a multitude of captives, granting them freedom, liberty, blessings, but also that He would confer gifts.

The Apostle proceeds to explain the matter and tells us what gifts are meant. He says, "And He gave some Apostles, and some prophets, and some evangelists, and some pastors and teachers." It behooves us to notice that the Apostle does not intimate that Jesus gave to some Methodism, to others Presbyterianism, and to others Roman Catholicism, etc. No, when we held such thoughts it was because we failed to see, first, that there is but the "one Church of the Living God, whose names are written in heaven," and second, that that one Church is not any of the various sects and parties, but includes the saintly in all of these. "For the Lord knoweth them that are His."

Noting carefully the Apostle's argument we perceive that the Master did not give these gifts for the conversion of the world. He does specify, however, what they were for, namely, "for the perfecting of the saints, for the work of the ministry, for the edifying of the Body of Christ"—the Church, the Bride. Is it supposable that the Apostle erred in this statement and that the fact is the reverse—that these gifts were provided for the conversion of the world, and that the Apostle thoroughly misunderstand the matter? No! We are to be taught by the Apostles, and may be sure that there is no mistake.

The Lord from time to time has raised up evangelists, pastors and teachers for this glorious service of preparing the "chaste virgin," the Church, to be the Bride in glory, but the Apostolic office, as represented in The Twelve, specially provided by the Father, has continued and needs no replenishment. We still have their instructions as fully as the early Church, "that the man of God may be perfect, thoroughly furnished unto every good work."
